Overpass Going Up...

GOING UP—A 60-ton concrete pedestrian overpass is lifted into place across Lake Merced boulevard by two heavy duty cranes. The operation last Thursday took four hours and drew a crowd of sidewalk superintendents. The overpass will be used by students attending Fernando Rivera and Westlake Park schools. ## Laguna Starts Planning for New Buildings

By LOIS McNALLY

Elated by passage on the second try of a $600,000 school bond issue and $6 million state loan authorization, Laguna Salada school officials were forging ahead this week with building plans.

The district plans to build six new schools with the board and state loan moneys. They will be in Rockaway beach, Fairmont, Fairway park, Edgemar, Linda Mar (Willow Brook estates) and Portola Highlands.

To keep pace with the expected population explosion, the school district is considering a new plan to build half a school at a time, Superintendent Frederick Lucas said this week.

A total school facility would be designed, Lucas said, and all of the central facilities — such as water pipes, electricity and sewage — would be built at one time to save money.

Lucas said that as needed, ten classrooms and an office might be built and then ten more classrooms, additional offices and a multi-purpose room added later.

Voters gave a green light to the school district's building program last week by passing the bond issue and state loan by a 75 per cent "yes" vote. A two-thirds majority was needed.

The bonds passed, 1154 to 362, and the state loan authorization, 1128 to 369.

The turnout of voters was small, 18.7 per cent, or about four per cent less than those voting when the propositions first went to the electorate in April.

Only Pacific Manor failed to give the needed majority to the two propositions, voting 114-82 on the bonds and 145-80 on the loan.

Most enthusiastic support came from Westview, where voters were 8-1 in favor, 83-10 on the bonds and 81-12 on the loan.

The Laguna Salada school district expects a surplus of 982 youngsters by the 1964-65 school year, Lucas pointed out.

He said this figure includes 442 from the Linda Mar area, 365 in Portola Highlands and 175 in the Rockaway, Vallemar, Fairway Park section.

Lucas added that the next step in the district's building program will probably be selection of a site for a school in the Rockaway Beach area to serve residents there and in the upper Crespi drive section of Linda Mar.

During the coming year, the district also plans to work on preparation of the Portola Highlands school site on Skyline boulevard, conducting surveys and soil tests and preparing building plans.

With various building projects on the drawing boards for the Edgemar area, a school that can serve Edgemar residents and Fairmont may be in order next, said Lucas. He noted that it is difficult to predict the rela-

Proposal on Layoff Given City Council

A recommendation on layoff procedures for city employes was sent to the city council by the Daly City personnel board last week.

City Manager Edward Frank said he would study the recommendation.

Board chairman John Drye said the new rule "leaves as little as possible to individual interpretation and gives employes and management an equal share in any demotion."

Layoff procedures became controversial last year when maintenance carpenter Reginald Calvert was laid off after the council had eliminated his position in a budget-cutting move.

The city has no provisions for demotion or transfer in cases of layoff. The person with the least seniority in the position involved must be laid off.

In Calvert's case, he was the only person in the maintenance carpenter classification.

The personnel board's recommendation states layoff shall be made on the basis of seniority within the employe's job classification, then seniority within the department and finally seniority within all departments classified of the city.

An employe who is laid off would have the right to elect demotion in lieu of layoff if there is a vacancy or if he has more seniority than the lowest person in the class of demotion.

The personnel board would have the right to require the city manager to postpone the proposed layoff for not more than 60 days.

Fontana to Head Jeff High Board

Elio Fontana was elected president of the Jefferson Union High school board Monday succeeding James Cooper, who has held the office for the past two years.

Cooper was chosen vice president and Mrs. Anna Eason was re-elected clerk of the board.

Fontana, who has been a board member since 1952, is serving his fourth term as president. A resident of the district since 1920, he graduated from Jefferson High school, where he was student body president.

In other action, the Jefferson trustees were told Monday that the manufacturer of Westmoor High school's hot-water heating system has indicated a willingness to contribute towards the cost of rehabilitating the system, providing that the contractors will do the same.

A conference with the contractors and manufacturer is being

Sanitation Unit Mulls New Budget

The board of directors of the North San Mateo county Sanitation district Monday began paring down a proposed $706,343 budget for the next fiscal year.

The budget compares with last year's total of $460,455.

Board chairman Francis Pacelli said the district did not anticipate a raise in the present tax rate of 48 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

Major reason for the increased budget is the construction of a submarine outfall line in the Thornton Beach area. The outfall line is expected to cost approximately $335,000.

Another large jump from $68,400 to $104,593 is expected in salaries of district employees.

The district is seeking an engineer and general manager. The salary will be in the five figure

Senior Citizen Faces New Role In No. County

(Editor's Note: Each community's older citizens today are facing their future with an outlook and a vigor radically different from the way in which their ancestors faced the golden years. This is the first in a series of articles on senior citizens of Daly City and of Pacifica and how they are filling their lives with a well-rounded program of activities.

By LOUANNE HEATH

There was a time, in the not too distant past, when a man or woman looked forward to the day when their last offspring would marry and they could retire to some warm corner to spend whatever days remained embroidering Antimacassars or playing an occasional lively game of checkers with a congenial cronie.

The modern couple become grandparents at approximately the same age their grandparents achieved that status but that is about the only similarity that the intervening years have not wiped away.

Today, there are only a few great-grandparents who would be content to live a cloistered life. Youthful vitality is no longer the exclusive property of the younger generation!

People have ceased to become "aged. Today, they simply admit to more years than some of their neighbors and for this reason they claim the right to refer to themselves as senior citizens.

With better health, more money and a greater number of leisure years to enjoy, the senior citizens of today have had to face problems that no previous generation has encountered.

Some have become despondent and discouraged with their lot. Others, however, have faced the challenge with vigor and enthusiasm and the members of this group have learned that fun, usefulness and education are not ended but merely entering a new phase.

These are the individuals you encounter manning gift counters in hospitals, directing charity fund-raising campaigns, attending art classes and joining senior citizens clubs.

These clubs, though a relatively recent innovation, are rapidly becoming an accepted part of life after 50 and this area boasts a number of them, each helping and encouraging people whose only common interest may be in fellowship with each other.

Two such groups in the North county are the Senior Citizens of Daly City and the Fifty Plus club of Pacifica. These groups follow much the same pattern and exemplify the basic type of organization and the type and scope of activities undertaken by senior citizen groups throughout the nation.

In Pacifica, the Fifty Plus club operates under the direction of Mrs. Harold Feyge, wife of the mayor, and Janette Howell. They represent the Federated Women's club of Pacifica and the Pacifica Park, Beach and Recreation department, the sponsoring organizations.

The group meets the first and third Tuesdays, usually in the Pacifica city hall.

The Daly City organization meets Wednesdays at 10:30 a.m. in the social hall of the Community Baptist church of Westlake. The group elects members to an executive board to serve as directors and administrators.

One member is named co-ordinator of internal activities.

Aside from the organizational details, the groups are nearly identical insofar as their activities and objectives are concerned.

In the past, they have decided to join together to share the enjoyment of special occasions and to widen their circle of acquaintances.

Next week: A description of the activities and programs conducted by the Daly City Senior Citizens and the Fifty Plus club.

The 4th Is Here Again

The North county takes time out tomorrow to observe an old custom — the celebration of the Fourth of July.

And as per custom, banks and most businesses will be closed, summer school classes will be suspended and a general exodus, weather permitting, can be expected toward parks and beaches.

Daly City and Pacifica police and fire officials have issued their annual warnings to residents to use extreme caution in handling those fireworks that may be used legally.

State law prohibits the exploding of firecrackers and police agencies have served notice the law will be closely enforced.

In Pacifica, a number of feuding organizations have resolved their differences over the purchase of fireworks and, as a result, a free show for the public will be presented.

Jeff Elementary Summer School Hits High Mark

A record high 1827 students, or 20 per cent of the Jefferson Elementary school district's student population, registered for the district's summer school program Monday, according to Dr. Vinton Stratton, assistant superintendent in charge of curriculum.

The enrollment figure is a drop of 21 per cent of the students who pre-registered earlier in the year.

"The district grew 244 students last year," Stratton pointed out, "and the increase of 182 in the summer school program represents 75 per cent of this new growth."

The district's total student population is 9,187.

The percentage of "no-shows," students who preregistered and failed to show up for classes, increased over last year when a 16 per cent drop occurred.

Stratton said he expects a

Vandals Badly Damage School

Vandals, heaving boulders through plate glass doors and windows and smearing asphalt linoleum adhesive throughout three classrooms, damaged Pacifica's Cabrillo school to the extent of $8000 to $10,000, school officials estimated yesterday.

The damage could peril the September opening of the school, Laguna Salada school district Superintendent Frederick Lucas said.

Police said the vandals entered a rear section of the school, under construction on Crespi boulevard, and threw rocks through glass doors and windows, breaking 20 panes of glass.

The black asphalt linoleum adhesive was smeared over walls, floors, ceiling and doors of three classrooms and a hallway and dribblings left in the kitchen and multipurpose room.

All damaged surfaces will have to be completely replaced according to John Larsen, superintendent for Ralph Larsen and Son Contractors. He said the adhesive could not be cleaned off, sanded or painted over because the acid in it would eat through the surfaces. Damaged are sections of luminous ceilings, floor panels, acoustical tile, brick wall, plastic

Pole Breaks, Power Fails

Electricity for several hundred homes, two television station transmitters and a section of the Daly City fire alarm system were knocked out yesterday when the top of a power line pole broke off at Hillside boulevard and Brunswick street.

The 4000-volt line was knocked out at 9:12 a.m. and was restored 15 minutes later. The two stations affected were KRON-TV and KGO-TV.

. . . And a School Coming Down

THE OLD JEFFERSON HIGH FALLS—A familiar sight along Mission street will be eliminated soon as a portion of Jefferson High school is demolished for a more modern building. The oldest of the four high schools in the Jefferson High school district, Jefferson has graduated several of the long-time residents of both Daly City and Pacifica. The school plans to make Bruno street the main entrance to the school. The center of the building, pictured above, is also scheduled for demolition. (Post-Times photo)

Coast Tax Boost Seen

Pacificans will face an increase in their local property taxes for next year due to the rising costs of running the city government, City Manager Karl Baldwin said yesterday.

Baldwin, who said his proposed city budget is expected to be completed and given to city council members by this morning, could not say exactly what the increase will be.

Pacifica officials have just learned that the city's assessed valuation is up 13 per cent over last year and Baldwin said this would lessen somewhat the necessary increase in tax rate.

Council Revokes Dancing Permit

The Daly City Council voted unanimously Monday to revoke the dance permit of Ye Olde Firehouse, 2159 Junipero Serra boulevard.

Hearing to Be Held on Bus Rates

The Public Utilities commis has informed Daly City officials a public hearing will be held on a requested rate increase by the Northgate Transit company.

The company had asked the commission for permission to raise the rates without a hearing.

The Daly City council, however, requested a hearing and the commission complied with the city's request.

The Northgate wants to boost fares five cents on all regular runs and 10 cents on Saturday and Sunday runs.

City Manager Edward Frank said that a survey on transportation conditions will be made after the final budget is approved.

WITH VIGOR, REPORT SAYS

City Moves Ahead

By RON BATES

Residents of Daly city will receive a handsome 16-page booklet this weekend from the city manager's office.

The booklet, entitled "Moving Ahead," is an annual report outlining the aims and accomplishments of the city during the past year.

Purpose of the report, according to Mayor Joseph Verducci, is to give the people "a clearer idea of the pace and direction of the community's movement."

In a prefacing letter, Verducci says: "We are, to borrow a phrase, moving ahead — with vigor."

He cites the growth, not only in land, but in community services and facilities, governmental innovation and community wealth.

The report contains several facts about the city and its programs.

The report also breaks down the revenue and expenditures of the tax dollar in 1962 by the city.

The city derives $906,047, almost 30 per cent of its funds from property taxes. Other sources of income are: water revenues, $688,000; state subventions, $625,707; other taxes, $493,700; miscellaneous, $167,600; prior year reserves, $113,657; licenses and permits, $109,600, and fines $68,400.

The city expenditures last year were: water department, $688,000; library, $109,189; public works, $669,074; parks and recreation, $234,585; general government, $328,581; bonds and debts, $29,195; public safety, $861,327; retirment, $137,726; miscellaneous, $48,355, and reserves and contingencies, $83,364.

. . The report points out that only 15 per cent of local property taxes goes to the city government.

The remainder is broken down like this: county government, 16 per cent; Jefferson High school district, 26 per cent; San Mateo Junior college, 4 per cent; special districts, seven per cent, and the Jefferson Elementary school district, 32 per cent.

Youth Hurt In Accident

A four-year-old Daly City boy was hospitalized with serious head injuries Friday after being struck by an auto at Fieldcrest drive and Westdale avenue in Daly City.

The driver, Leo A. Ladner, 16, of 7 Westdale avenue, told police he did not see the boy following his mother across the street. The mother was carrying another child.

The victim is David Stager of 150 Westdale avenue. Ladner told police he stopped to permit the mother to cross the street, then started his vehicle forward again.

The boy was taken to Peninsula hospital where he was reported progressing satisfactorily this week.

Also provided are more employees and increment raises for the present staff.

The sanitation district has $357,066 on hand and has to raise $349,276. The district has an assessed valuation of $72,750,000.

In other action, directors instructed their attorney, James Morton, to investigate including the estimated $100,000 cost of laying a sewage line from the treatment plant to the proposed outfall line in a federal grant received by the district.

The line would parallel an existing 18-inch line, which is inadequate for population growth.

arranged by Mrs. Lois Scampini of the district attorney's office.

Jefferson district will build a high school on Christen land which will also serve Portola Heights, Pacific Heights, Westview, and part of the area now being served by Westmoor High school, trustees learned last night.

School officials are now negotiating with the developer to locate a 40 acre site.

Jefferson trustees voted to sell a triangular piece of property north of Eastmoor avenue for a minimum bid of $11,800, pending approval by the state department of finance.

Trustees accepted the S. J. Amoroso construction company's low bid of $854,200 for additions to Terra Nova High school, pending approval by the state.

However, superintendent Edward Morgan said it might be necessary to re-bid since the Amoroso bid is nearly $50,000 more than the amount allowed by state loan requirements.

The Carnegie Foundation, which sponsored a beginning Chinese class at Westmoor High school, has offered to provide support for an additional class next year. The board was informed by Doctor Kai-yu Hsu, director of the Carnegie Chinese project at San Francisco State college.

A decision to accept the offer was postponed until it is determined whether or not there is sufficient student interest.

The board re-newed a contract with Laguna Salada school district for exchanging use of school buses.

The Daly City-Colma Junior Chamber of Commerce will continue its Seat Belt Clinic through this weekend, according to co-chairman Jack Kelly.

Larsen said the damage was discovered at 4:30 p.m. Saturday, only four and a half hours after construction crews left the job.

Vandals also hotwired a crane and pickup truck in the school yard banged them together, and broke all the gauge glass.

Larsen, who said his company also had experienced vandalism while building Ortega school in another section of Linda Mar, said this was the worst case he had seen. Previously, he said, vandals broke into Cabrillo school and took a table saw, joiner and $150 worth of assorted tools. Although children were found in the building, the tools were never recovered.

Superintendent Lucas said that the school was scheduled for completion by July 15, but added bitterly that after Saturday's escapade "We're going to have to shoot for the opening of school in September. We just have to make it, that's all."

Those Fireworks Will Be Exploded

Pacifica's Fourth of July fireworks display, a burning issue in the city for several months, will be exploded tomorrow as planned.

Six warring community groups have resolved their differences and will sponsor a free public display of fireworks at about 9 p.m., on a hill just south of Rockaway beach and west of the highway, Basil Gladieux, chamber of commerce manager announced.

In case of fog, the display will be postponed until Labor Day, or the city's anniversary celebration, Gladieux said.

Fireworks first became a fiery issue in Pacifica when community groups fought over six licenses to sell fireworks that would be issued by the city.

Licenses were finally awarded to: Babe Ruth Women's Auxiliary, Lions club, American Legion, Manor Village improvement club, Moose Lodge and Sea Scouts Ship 274.

Then, Paul Groshowski of the Moose Lodge and Emmet Nannery of the Manor Village Improvement club objected to the wholesaler selected by the group to supply the fireworks.

The six groups had planned to buy from one wholesaler so that the city could get its premium: a free display on the Fourth.

The Pacifica Fire department will be in charge of the fireworks display. John Christisch, a former Pacifica city employee who now lives in San Carlos, has again volunteered to serve as pyrotechnic engineer, Gladieux said.

By DON MILLER

DALY CITY'S sidewalk superintendents had their day last week and quite a day it was.

It started shortly after 9 a.m. Wednesday and went on for some four hours.

The object of all the grandstanding was a neat but difficult operation that lifted 60 tons of pre-poured concrete over busy Lake Merced boulevard.

The concrete was an overpass that will be used by pupils attending Fernando Rivera and Westlake Park schools. Jefferson Elementary school district officials decided some time ago the boulevard was becoming too busy and that an overpass was needed.

To lift the overpass, which had been constructed by the roadway on the west side of the boulevard, contractors brough in two heavy-duty cranes, each capable of lifting 90 tons each.

They decided to use one crane as a pivot. The other was to move in a semicircle, across the boulevard and in a northerly direction.

Huge lifting rings had been bolted into the cement gargantua. To these, were attached cables, which in turn were attached to the cranes.

Now, to most of the sidewalk kibitzers, it seemed like a simple enough business. The cranes, working in unison, would lift the overpass and wheel it into place.

But that was too simple. There were several considerations involved.

One was a street light pole that looked as though it was going to foul up the works. Another was the absolute necessity of lifting the overpass in such a way that the weight was brought over the wheels or front part of the crane that would be mobile.

For unless this were done, the weight would tip the crane on its end, which would have made a rather spectacular sight — though a decidedly embarrassing one to the contractors.

PREPARATIONS for the great lift went on for more than two hours. Each of the cranes had to be wheeled into a precise position that would ensure an exact division of lifting power between them.

The lifting cables were carefully attached and then tested. The front ends of both cranes were braced with outrigger-type supports. Workmen had to chop away a considerable amount of brush and grass at curbside to allow room for the supports.

Meanwhile, across Lake Merced, trucks and pumpers in Daly City's central fire headquarters had been moved out and parked on Northgate avenue. This was done to give firemen immediate access to areas south of the station.

For once the moving operation began, Lake Merced would be blocked.

First stage in the big lift seemed almost inconsequential. The cranes lifted the concrete overpass only three inches, permitting workmen to make sure that wooden supports for the structure had fallen away. They were no longer needed and besides, it would have been a weird-looking bridge if they had remained.

Next step was a gradual, inches-by-inches upward lift.

Then for the next hour or so, a series of up and down, backward and forward and lateral mments were ordered to gradually swing the overpass out over the highway.

The crane operators deftly handled their controls, the foreman flashed hand signals and to the amasement of some of the amateur superintendents, the overpass did, indeed, clear the light pole without mishap.

Finally, some time after noon while traffic was being diverted by a detail of Daly City police, the overpass was eased down onto two aesthetically appealing support foundations.

Another crew then took over and secured the bridge. Sixty tons of concrete had been picked up and set in place over a highway in as smooth an operation as you could imagine.

Unuquestionably, there were those in the crowd who were itching to see the whole thing tumble onto the boulevard. It would have made quite a racket and an earthquake to boot.

But you just don't tackle a job like that without a lot of very cautious planning and the Bigge Drayage company, which accomplished the operation, proved it was the planning sort. As a result, we had no earthquake last week.

MYSTERY VISIT — Movie and television actor Ernest Borgnine, best known in the flicks for his portrayal of Marty in the movie of the same name, popped into Gene Compton's Westlake Shopping center restaurant for breakfast Friday morning and popped out, almost before anyone knew it.

Borgnine, accompanied by a most attractive gal, said he was on his way to Los Angeles from Mare Island.

As you television viewers know, Borgnine now is the big light in the weekly series, McHale's Navy, which is a sort of reprise to the long-running Sergeant (Phil Silver) Bilko hilarity.

A call to American Broadcasting company brass in San Francisco by Times television editor Bob Foster drew a blank and a miffed reaction from network officials.

Seems ABC, which airs Borgnine's shows, gets perturbed when any of its stars show up in an area but fail to contact the local outlet. ABC in San Francisco said it had been unaware of the star's visit.

So what Marty was doing at Mare Island remains somewhat of a mystery, at least for now. At any rate, Compton's management dutifully reported, he enjoyed his breakfast in Westlake.

PIRATE'S COVE — Shades of Captain Kidd and skullbones flying from the mizzenmast but if the Westlake Shopping center isn't going to look like a pirate's cove for the next four weeks.

The merchants have cooked up what looks like a good one this time. It's a gimmick to promote sales, of course, but if ya gotta have a gimmick, as la Merman sings, this is a lulu.

The idea here is to somehow latch onto a key that will open one of three treasure chests in the center's mall. The chest will be filled with all manner of valuable goodies, donated by merchants. In fact, the loot will total more than $1500.

You get a key by turning in the right coupon. Not every key will open a chest.

Just so the chests aren't raided by Daly City pirates, they'll be closely guarded by contestants in the recent 1963 Miss Daly City contest.

Now all you would-be pirates, you wouldn't want to kdianp these defenseless lasses and make off with a treasure trove, would you? Or would you?

Land Trade Plan

THIS MAP shows the areas involved in a proposed land trade between Daly City and Pacifica. The city councils of both cities were scheduled to meet last night on the proposal. Pacifica wants to trade the area indicated by B for the sector marked A. Daly City, however, is seeking both B and the area indicated by C in return for area A. Arrows point to the present boundary between the two cities.

Shoreline Erosion to Be Studied

Pacifica's long-awaited shoreline erosion study has finally became a certainty. The house Appropriations committee has authorized $54,000 for the project.

Work on the three-year survey of the city's eroding cliff and beach areas is due to begin soon by the U. S. Corps of Engineers, working through the state's water resources division.

About three weeks ago, Congressman J. Arthur Younger reported to Pacifica Mayor Harold Feyge that the project had passed the house Public Works committee and that efforts to speed the appropriation were being made.

The engineers' survey will determine exactly what steps should be taken to control the erosion, which has been steadily eating away at properties.

Shoreline residents have lost as much as 125 feet within the past few years — particularly along the bluff areas in the northern section of the city.

Mayor Feyge, who has been working for the survey for some time, believes that, next to freeway construction, erosion is the most pressing problem affecting the city's future.

Its remedy could be a massive beach-building project that could take years and run into millions of dollars. Possibilities include a seawall, esplanade, and a breakwater and harbor for small boats.

Open House Draws 1800

Eighteen hundred Pacificans turned out last week to view the new Pacific Telephone headquarters in Vallemar.

The $2,070,000 facility, which was opened last month, initiated direct long distance dialing in the city. It replaced two temporary headquarters and a mobile unit serving the city.

"For four hours we had a steady stream of people coming in," district manager Henry Kowal said, "and when we opened at 6 p.m. there were 15 or 20 people outside waiting to come in."

In a special space communications exhibit, Pacificans saw a demonstration of Telstar, showing how TV beams bounce off a satellite and back to earth.

Also on display were telephones of the future and exhibits of other scientific advances in communications. Construction crews staged a demonstration of splicing and stringing cables. Pacificans also learned how message units are recorded and an individual monthly telephone bill computed.

Kowal said he felt Pacificans left with a good understanding of the complex equipment and how it works.

Thieves stole two tires and wheels, a radiator cap and an air filter from a car in a lot owned by Jerry and Walt's Car company at 7469 Mission street, company officials reported to Daly City police over the weekend.

Council Sets Time Limit

An ordinance to do away with unfinished buildings that become eyesores was passed by Pacifica City council last week.

The new ordinance establishes a time limit on use permits, variances and building permits.

If a building is not completed within one year after started or if work is suspended on a building for more than ninety days, then the city has the power to move in and abate the building.

Mayor Harold Feyge said that buildings are being left unfinished sometimes out of carelessness, because the owner runs out of money or sometimes to save taxes by keeping the assessed valuation of the structure down.

He said one man had lived for 15 years in a house with scaffolding around it and with an unfinished stairway.

Some of the unfinished building projects are hazardous as well, the mayor said.

Toastmasters Unit Planned

A new Daly City Toastmasters club, to meet in the evenings, is being formed by recreation supervisor Edward Tomasello.

The new group will hold an organizational meeting Thursday, July 11, at 7 p.m., in the Westmoor park clubhouse on Edgemont drive.

Tomasello, past president of a Toastmasters club that meets every Thursday morning in the Westlake library, has invited all interested persons to contact him at PL 5-0850 for further information.

The Toastmasters club is an international movement to develop public speakers

The clubs hold regular weekly meetings with prepared programs by the members, Tomasello explained.

Members practice giving impromptu and prepared speeches and at acting as masters of ceremonies.

WHEN I was a kid, I had several boyhood heroes. One of them was Lou Gehrig. Another was Babe Dahlgren.

Gehrig, I'm sure, you've heard of; Dahlgren, perhaps not. Lou, though playing in the shadow of Babe Ruth, finally went on to make the Hall of Fame. His most illustrious achievement was his 2130 consecutively played games, a record that still stands.

Dahlgren was the man, in turn, who played in Gehrig's shadow and the man who was unfortunate enough to be asked to step into Gehrig's large shoes at first base on a warm spring day in 1939, the day a dying Gehrig turned a lineup card in without his name on it.

"There wasn't a dry eye in the dugout," related Dahlgren, a friend of our family that winter.

Babe, who had come to the Yankees in 1937 via the Boston Red Sox and via San Francisco's old Mission Reds, hit only .235 for the remainder of the 1939 season, gained a small share of his own glory by hitting the first home run of the World Series that year against Cincinnati, hit .264 the next season, and then slipped into relative obscurity. During his next 12 major league seasons he played four different positions for seven other major league clubs and finished his career with a lifetime average of .261 and the satisfaction of participating in the 1943 All Star game.

One of the best glove men in the busniess at his peak, Babe only occasionally frightened pitchers, yet one has to wonder what could have become of men like Dahlgren and Charley Silvera (who played in Yogi Berra's shadow) had they been allowed to break in side by side with their own shadows.

EVIDENTLY, it didn't daunt Silvera, now a successful scout, after his retirement nor did it seem to faze Dahlgren from whom we've just received a letter in answer to the question: "What are you doing now? What ever happened to the guy who took Lou Gehrig's place?"

Dahlgren, it turns out, is doing plenty, and plenty is happening to him. Since his final retirement from baseball in 1948 (he played his last game for Sacramento in the Coast league) he's scouted for Kansas City and Baltimore, and last year put in a stint as a college coach when he temporarily took the place of ill Tony Preisler at Cal Tech.

"It was real fun . . ." writes Dahlgren, "I felt like Casey Stengel, but I wasn't as grouchy!"

Currently residing in Arcadia, where he is actively engaged in his own sports promotional business, Babe is no longer the lithe 27-year-old who took over for Gehrig, but he is, so he reports, still a pretty lithe 51-year-old.

"We work out every day," writes Babe.

"We" is he and his two sons, 18-year-old Don and 20-year-old Ray, who is a dead ringer for his father. Both boys, so the reports say, are potential major leaguers. Don, 6-2, 190, is lefty-swinging first baseman with a big league glove and good power. Last year, he was an All Southern California CIF first baseman.

Ray, 6-2, 210, is a catcher with an outstanding arm and excellent power. Both boys attended Pasadena Junior college this year but are now helping their father with the production of a baseball instructional film which is, says Babe, " . . . 45 years of experience, 22 years of notes, and the lifespan of my boys in instruction."

Dahlgren figures that if he has helped his own boys to develop into fine ballplayers, then perhaps —with the assistance of his sons—he may be able to help other youngsters.

Other films that Dahlgren has in the hangar are one about spring training camps. which includes interviews with some of the game's biggest star, and another showing the Giants winning the pennant from the Dodgers on that fateful last day playoff.

About the latter ,Dahlgren says: "I guess I got the best shots . . . I was the closest photographer to the dugout and the TV cameras were blocked by my back as the fellows piled into the dugout after the last play."

Now we know what happens to guys who take the place of the Lou Gehrigs of the world. They go on, helping to produce new Lou Gehrigs.

NO ONE, it seems, is ever satisfied. For years, now, baseball games have been too long. This was one of the reasons for enlarging the strike zone—to allow pithers to throw more strikes so that hitters would have to swing more often so that games would end quicker.

So now that the games are faster, there are some loons who are going around complaining that they no sooner get their second beer spattered on their shirt fronts than the game's over and they're not getting their money's worth.

Just to spite those guys, I would change the rules to three balls, two strikes; two outs; seven innings; make pitchers about to hit stand in the batter's circle; eliminate warm-up pitches between innings; stop mound conferences; make it three fouls and you're out; tie base goes to the fielder; one bounce and you're out, and outfit relief pitchers with roller skates.

Those complainers then would get past the Candlestick traffic jams just in time for the fifth inning stretch.

St. Clair to Guide 49ers Morale Session

Veteran members of the San Francisco 49ers, perhaps in answer to reports of ill feeling and disharmony among members of the team, will hold a special team morale session prior to the opening of their St. Mary's training camp.

Tackle Bob St. Clair, the tallest man in the National Football league who is also a Daly City councilman, will handle the proceedings. Coach Red Hickey will stay away from the players' session but has given his approval to the idea along with club president Vic Morabito.

"The meeting is of the players' own choosing and it certainly can't do any harm," Hickey stated. "It's a good thing for ballplayers to get together and try to figure up some way of helping their club and bettering team morale."

The morale issue has been a touchy one with some of the 49ers this year, chiefly in the area of pay negotiations, which is expected to be a chief topic at the meeting.

"I've read of some bickering over salaries," St. Clair said. "It is a situation that exists now throughout the National Football league. Competition for talent has grown so intense that the pay isn't as standardized as it used to be."

One beef among veterans on both the 49ers and other NFL teams is the general knowledge that some rookie linemen collect as much as $14,000 in their initial season, which is close to what veterans now make after breaking in at $7,000.

Leopards Deadlock for Lead; Dodgers Upended

The OLM Leopards moved into a deadlock for first place in the Midget-National league and the PAL Dodgers were upended in the Intermediate league to highlight action in baseball sponsored by the Daly City Recreation department last week.

Here is rundown on the week's games:

MIDGET-NATIONAL

The OLM Leopards moved into a first place tie in the National division of the Midget league last week with an assist from the Bender Roofing Cats.

The Cats caught the Birds and down went the PAL Cardinals from sole possession of first place. Joel Carrara held the Birds with 12 strikeouts. The Cats won, 6-2.

David Bias put the PAL Indians on the victory trail with a 5-2 win over the PAL Yankees. Bias allowed the Yanks two hits and struck out nine.

Smokey Morton tossed a three hitter for the PAL Braves against the Holy Angels Colts. Dana Marcus went three for four, Dave Mabelli hit a triple and Billy Wallace a double, while little Jimmy Gentile picked up his first base hit in the 5-3 win.

Jerry Garibaldi of the PAL Yanks had a three for four day against the Holy Angels Colts, accounting for 5 RBIs. Final score: Yanks 5, Colts 1.

The Bender Cats, coming off their win over the Birds, were caught napping by the PAL Braves as Gentile chucked a two-hit shutout against them.

Dana Marcus figured in the win with two home runs.

MIDGET-AMERICAN

Cornell Holmes' PAL Giants held on to their right to meet the American division All Stars tomorrow by defeating the George Harrison Realty team, 5-0.

Dave Pinelli was on the mound for the Giants and allowed the Harrison boys two hits while fanning 11.

Gar Tompkins for the losers failed to walk anybody but gave up seven hits.

Holy Angels Lions roared back into the win column last week as they teed off on the OLM Dons. Doug Matgen was the big stick with a triple and then a double with the bases loaded.

The PAL Redsox seem to have finally jelled. They edged out Misracks in a 6-5 ball game. Fred Balletto handled the hill for the Sox and gave up only two hits to Misracks batters.

Balletto helped win his own ball game with two for three and scored two runs.

Abe Shaffer took revenge later in the week. Getting even for the way the Redsox hit him, he almost shut the door in the face of Harrison Realty. Shaffer faced 18 men, issued one walk, allowed one hit and struck out 14 batters in a 3-0 win.

INTERMEDIATE LEAGUE

Highlight of the week in the Intermediate league was a Relish Bakery win over the league-leading PAL Dodgers.

Vic Yerby was the hero for the Bakery boys, giving the Dodgers five scattered hits and accounting for two of the Bakery RBIs.

The PAL Dodgers had another close call as the Holy Angels Shamrocks came within one run of turning the trick.

Johnny Provenzale turned the tide with a smashing double that drove in the winning run. Dennis Dickey tossed a 3 hitter for the Dodgers.

BYA Relish Bakery and the OLM Aces played a bang up ball game before Bakery emerged victorious. Mario Sandoval was the winning pitcher for the Bakery. He helped out at the plate with two triples. The win put Bakery in second place.

New Tri-City Ball League Is Underway

Opening play in the new Tri-City summer baseball league, sponsored by the Daly City recreaiton department, got off to a fast start Sunday with six teams in action.

Pitching was the keynote in Sunday's inaugural games.

The Jefferson A. C. club, behind the two-hit shutout pitching of George Egan, stopped the Gary Kenny-coached El Camino A. C. 4-0 in the first game at Marchbanks park.

El Camino pitcher Gary Anderson allowed only four hits.

Backed by the errorless ball of his teammates, Westmoor BYA chucker Mike Krnich pitched and batted his team to an 11-0 victory over the Banlieff Construction team of South San Francisco.

Striking out 11 and allowing only two scratch singles, Krnich collected three hits in leading the Westmoor attack.

Third sacker Karl Fleischauer was three for three, scoring two runs and Greg Brenk drove in two runs with timely singles to aid the victory for the hilltop boys.

In the day's closest battle, the San Francisco Saints defeated the South Sunset A. C. behind the five-hit pitching of Jim Papalias and the clutch hitting of Bob Warnke.

Butch Sanguinetti, John Valero, Mike Stevenson and Warnke each collected two hits for the winning club.

South Sunset centerfielder Dave Johnson went two for three in a losing cause.

The Saints' roster is composed of many players from the Excelsior midgets and San Pedro Lunch junior team of a couple years back.

Westlake Bowl

WITH OVER 300 bowlers competing in the first 24 hours, the Fifth Annual Daly City Police Athletic league benefit bowling tournament is off to a flying start. Between now and August 4, it's hoped that $5000 will be raised for the youth program of Daly City.

AT TERRA NOVA

Gonella Named Dean of Boys

Floyd Gonella, last year's North Peninsula league football coach of the year, last week was named dean of boys at Terra Nova High school.

Gonella immediately announced that he would leave his positions as athletic director and head football and golf coaches for the Tigers. His successor will be named at a later date.

Although he expressed regret at having to leave the coaching end of education, he said he was "very excited about my new post, and at least I've quit coaching while I'm still ahead."

Gonella took a rag-tag football squad, picked to top only the newly formed Oceana team in the North Peninsula league race last year, and guided the Tgiers into a tie for second place.

He received a bachelor of arts degree from San Francisco State college where he was a star lineman until knee injuries forced him into a premature collegiate retirement.

After coaching experience with the Gator junior varsity squad, he received his master's degree from State in 1957. He is now studying for his doctorate at the University of California.

FLOYD GONELLA
Takes New Post

Gonella joined the Jefferson High school district seven years ago. He was an assistant coach with the Westmoor Rams and then moved to Terra Nova as head of its physical education department when that school opened three years ago.

A 60-Ton Moving Operation

IN PLACE—A pedestrian overpass is shown being lifted over Lake Merced boulevard onto two supports in this series of photographs. In top photo, huge cranes span the cement structure off the ground beside the street. In second photo, the overpass is nicely balanced between the cranes high off the ground. In third photo, structure is pivoted across the boulevard. In bottom photo, overpass has been set atop the supports and stairs and stairways for completion. Moving operation took four hours. (Post-Times photos)

Two-Toned Overpass Is Put in Place

A slightly two-toned 60-ton pedestrian overpass, first of its kind in Daly City, was set into place over Lake Merced boulevard near the Fernando Rivera school last week.

The installation of the $39,000 structure had been delayed because of the accidental two-toned color of the cement bridge.

The sub-contractors for the Lippi Construction company, used two separate batches of cement in pouring two different sections of the overpass.

The result was similar to what often occurs in painting when different brands or lots of paint is used. The colors generally don't match up.

One third of the structure is a lighter shade than the other two thirds.

Dr. Richard T. Foster, superintendent of the Jefferson Elementary school district, which contracted to have the overpass built, said the contractors will correct the mistake by applying a thin coat of cement over all of the entire overpass.

"If we wanted to wait a year, the sun probably would do the job," he said.

The overpass was designed by Mario J. Ciampi's architectural firm.

It was built by the district to provide safe access over heavily traveled Lake Merced for students in the Westlake Estates area to Westlake Park and Fernando Rivera schools.

Setting the overpass in place took approximately four hours.

Post Office Is Delayed

Construction of Daly City's new main post office building on the west side of Sullivan avenue from 88th to 89th streets has been delayed more than a month.

Vincent P. Murphy, Daly City postmaster, said a representative of Robert and Jane Erving of San Jose, who have been given a contract to build and lease the structure to the post office, told him arrangements with a general contractor had not been completed.

Groundbreaking for the building had been scheduled for the early part of last month.

The new building will have 23,670 square feet of space. Construction is expected to take eight months.

Mayors Fill Smog Post

Sidney Herkner, vice mayor of Redwood City, was elected unanimously a director of the smog control district by members of the County Mayors' council, meeting Friday in San Mateo.

He succeeds L. B. Morgan, Burlingame councilman and former mayor, who died earlier this month.

Members heard San Mateo Mayor Albert J. Wisner describe the meeting of the nation's mayors that he attended in Honolulu recently.

At the July meeting, Senator Richard Dolwig will discuss legislation dealt with in the legislature this year.

County Manager E. Robert Stallings and members of the board of supervisors are to tell being taken to find an alternative to the county roads plan, which when presented as a bond issue early in the month was defeated.

Merchants Elect Officers

Coast Firemen Douse Fire

Pacifica firemen got four units to a blaze at Nick's Rockaway Cafe at Rockaway Beach last week after being called at 11:15 a.m., fearing for the wrost after seeing huge plumes of smoke billowing out.

It turned out to be grease catching fire in a flue, however, with much more smoke than fire. Damage was estimated at about $200.

County Plans Gripe Session

Taxpayers who have gripes about the assessments the county has assigned their property will have a chance in the coming two weeks to give them an official airing.

The county board of supervisors began sitting as a board of equalization yesterday to hear complaints.

Further hearings will be scheduled as required until the July 15 deadline. Those who want to appear must apply in writing and have their cases scheduled.

Planners Face Busy Agenda

The Daly City Planning commission will tackle a busy agenda Tuesday when it meets at 8 p.m. in the council chambers.

Included on the agenda are requests for six use permits, three rezonings and a request for a variance.

A request for a use permit to construct apartments with commercial use on the ground floor at Mission street and Crocker avenue will be considered.

The variance request is from the Daly City Scavanger company, 7390 Mission street.

The garbage collecting firm wants to build a 12-foot fence on a lot on Edgeworth avenue, near Pierce street.

The firm plans to build a storage garage for trucks at the location.

The planning commission also will consider a petition to establish R-1 zoning in Southern Hills subdivisions 3, 4A and 4B.

In other action, the commission will consider rezoning of Westlake avenue property on both sides of the Southern Pacific railroad from heavy commercial and unclassified zones to multiple dwelling and light commercial zones.

The petitioner, Domenic Belcastro, of San Francisco, also is seeking a use permit to build motel and apartments on the property.

Law Degrees Are Awarded

Three Daly City students graduated from San Francisco Law school in commencement exercises held at the Mark Hopkins hotel in San Francisco Saturday night.

They are: A. Virginia Duggan, Betty Lou Galin and Henry Noffsinger.

Three windows in Woodrow Wilson school were broken by vandals over the weekend, Daly City police reported.

Coast City Plans Aired

Plans for a complete self-contained community on the coast north of San Gregorio have been submitted to the county planning commission.

The subdivision, to be called Rancho San Gregorio, would be located on 1000 acres of the old Serefin Machado ranch, lying south of Tunitas and Dry creeks and east of Cabrillo highway.

Sugar 'n' Spice

By Nell Norton

DO YOU have that "tired of cooking the same dishes in the same way" feeling? Would you like a different way to cook a pot roast? If you answered yes to both these questions, you are going to be pleased with today's column. For we have our whole meal planned for us, from the entree to dessert, and it will be Jewish menu.

I asked Mrs. Grace Solomon of 95 Maywood avenue, Daly City, if she would plan this menu for us. Grace tells me she likes to experiment and that this pot roast sort of evolved from different recipes.

SWEET AND SOUR POT ROAST

4 pounds beef (cross-rib or boneless rump)
2 large onions, sliced
1 clove garlic, minced
½ cup water or stock
2 bay leaves
2 Tbsp. vinegar or the juice of one lemon
1 Tbsp. brown sugar
salt
3 Tbsp. catsup
½ cup raisins
6 potatoes, quartered (optional).

Brown meat on all sides in fat in a heavy kettle. Add and brown onion and garlic. Next, add water and bay leaves and cover, simmer one hour. (Add more hot water or stock if necessary to prevent burning). If potatoes are used, add them now. Add vinegar and brown sugar, cover and simmer another hour. Lastly add salt, catsup and raisins and cook ½ hour more. The total cooking time is 2½ hours. Serves eight to 10.

☆ ☆

THIS POTATO pie is a very flexible dish. Grace says she sometimes adds two extra eggs to make it more rich.

POTATO KUGEL

6 medium potatoes, peeled
2 eggs, beaten
½ cup flour
½ tsp. baking powder
1½ tsp. salt
⅛ tsp. pepper
1 large onion, chopped fine
¼ cup fat

Grate potatoes quickly, so they won't discolor. Squeeze out excess liquid. Add eggs and mix well. Sift together dry ingredients, add to potatoes. Saute onion in hot fat until lightly browned. Add both to batter and stir well. Pour into greased baking pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) until brown and crisp at edges. About 1 hour. Serve hot. Serves 6 to 8.

☆ ☆ ☆

LAST BUT not least comes the dessert. A cake filled with sugar and spice and fruit.

LEKACH (TRADITIONAL HONEY CAKE)

3½ cups sifted cake flour
1½ tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. soda
1 cup sugar
6 eggs, well beaten
1 cup honey
2 Tbsp. vegetable oil
½ cup raisins
½ cup chopped nuts
¼ cup chopped citron
½ tsp. allspice
½ tsp. cinnamon
½ tsp. ground cloves
2 Tbsp. brandy

MIX AND sift flour, baking powder and baking soda. Add sugar gradually to eggs and beat until light. Stir in honey and oil. Add the fruits and spices and brandy. Mix in flour, beating vigorously. Pour into tube pan, lined with greased wax paper. Bake in slow oven (300 degrees, for 1 hour. Invert pan until cake is cold.

High-Stepping on the Coast

Pacifica Proud of Marching Sweethearts and Their Prizes

By LOIS McNALLY

ANY PACIFICAN knows that his is a town with a lot of youngsters but how many know they are winning prizes at county fairs?

Thirty-five of the coastside's brightest, bounciest gals have won a roomful of trophies for their fancy marching and baton twirling as members of the Pacifica Sweethearts.

Their travel schedule is impressive. Two weeks ago, it was Santa Cruz for the Miss California pageant. Before that, Novato for Western Days. This month it will be Pleasanton for a county fair and Stockton for "Cap'n Webber Daays."

In August, it's the San Mateo county fair and in September Booneville for the Mendocino county fair.

Not long ago, the girls regretfully declined an invitation to perform at a golden jubilee in southern California because of the distance.

So far, they have collected 20 trophies plus cash awards that go into their uniform and equipment fund.

Biggest boost to their bank balance was a check for $100 won last year in El Cerrito.

The girls consider their top award a first prize they won at Clear Lake in May as the best group in a parade there.

First prizes are, however, an old story with this dedicated group. In their first year of competition, the girls won a first place in their category in a San Francisco parade.

MEMBERS of the Pacifica Sweethearts majorette corps range in age from eight to 16. Two members, Beverly Morago and Brita Albertz, attend Oceana High school.

Eleanor Anda is from Terra Nova, Brita Albertz from Notre Dame school in Belmont while the remainder come from schools in the Laguna Salada Elementary district.

A six-year-old pee-wee corps serves as color guard. They practice to join the baton twirlers later. The Sweethearts also have their own drummer corps, only one of whom is a girl. Drummers are Terry Bedford, Stella Hayes, Joe Hooper, Lyon Sitts and Ronnie Talbert.

One of the most remarkable things about this organization is its degree of self-help. Personable Brita Albertz, who is the instructor for the corps and teaches the baton classes, has just celebrated only her sixteenth birthday.

And the instructor for the pee wee corps (five and six-year-old children) is Annette Randolph who has reached the ripe old age of eleven.

Parents of the girls serve on a board of directors. the board president is Tony De Santo who supervises the groups' annual fireworks sale.

Proceeds are the main support of the organization. The girls pay $5 a year dues, buy their own boots and batons. They receive free lessons after joining the corps — plus uniforms and drums.

Other members of the board are Mrs. Lucile Albertz, Mrs. Carmen Anda and Mrs. Fay Radomski. Mrs. Florence Bedford, whose late husband founded the group, is the director.

YOUNG BRITA, who is Mrs. Bedford's niece, says her aunt is the group's mother hen. She keeps our lines straight, makes sure that no one gets too tired and watches over us all," explains Brita.

The parents also run a car pool, taking turns transporting their daughters on weekends to various fairs.

"Right now, the corps is growing rapidly," says Brita. She thinks Pacifica parents are eager for their girls to join and the girls themselves find being a majorette fun and challenging.

"The girls want to succeed They like doing something, trying to accomplish something and going places and meeting all kinds of people."

And this, a constructive physical activity for girls, seems to have been just what the late Frank Bedford had in mind when he organized the Sweethearts.

Brita says her uncle got the idea for the corps after a chance conversation with Frances Schrumpf, the former Miss Pacifica.

Miss Schrumpf asked him if he knew about a drum majorette corps that her sister could join.

"We'll start one," Bedford told her.

At that time, Pacifica had no Girl Scout troop or other activities for girls. Brita explains: "I had taken baton since I was four and my uncle was very interested and wanted to get me into something like this."

Bedford died in 1960 of a heart attack while he was in a reviewing stand to watch his Sweethearts perform.

BECAUSE OF the young age of the corps, Brita explains members usually prefer parades in smaller towns.

"After we were kept waiting for three hours to march in a San Francisco parade," she points out, "we don't go there any more. The little kids just get too restless. It's too hard on them to wait that long."

Sadly enough, Pacificans rarely get to see their Sweethearts march. Brita explains that the girls feel badly that there are no big parades on holidays in Pacifica.

The Sweethearts did march for the Babe Ruth league opening this year and in a Linda Mar parade last year.

Pacifica, with its communities strung along the coast, does not have a good center for parade viewing and this, according to the chamber of commerce, has been a drawback in trying to plan city parades.

However, the Sweethearts would be willing to march down the coast highway if necessary, says their youthful instructor gamely. "We've mardhed nearly that far before."

Engagement Announced

Evelynne Marie Riccomini, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Olinto Riccomini of San Francisco and John Joseph Alvaradeo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Alvarado of San Francisco, have anounced their engagement.

The prospective bride attended Notre Dame High school. The future groom studied at Sacred Heart and John O'Connell High schools. They will be married next year in St. Elizabeth's church.

Peninsula YMCA Extends Summer Slate of Events

This year, in addition to the usual Monday and Wednesday evening Summer Fun club will be held on Friday at the Peninsula YMCA.

The times are 7:30 to 10 p.m. on Monday and Wednesday, and from 8 to 11 Friday evenings.

Activities include volleyball, basketball, table tennis, dancing and table games. Live music will be on tap for Friday evenings.

Attendance at Summer Fun club is limited to Peninsula YMCA's 2600 high school age members. Membership in the Y is open to those who are enrolled in but have not graduated from high school and who live within the area served by the Peninsula YMCA (San Mateo north to the San Francisco city limits).

The summer fun program runs through August.

The first of two pack trips is scheduled for August 10-18. This is the annual co-ed pack trip and is open to both Hi-Y and Tri-Y members.

The group will go by bus to Tuolumne Meadows and hike in to Budd lake. Horses will be used to help carry camp equipment.

Reach for Peaches, Fit All Occasions

Which canned fruit do you and other American homemakers reach for most often in your supermarket or corner grocery?

It's canned cling peaches, of course. They win the popularity contest year after year. And no wonder. For like other popularity contest winners, they are adaptable, congenial. They fit in well no matter what the occasion or time of day.

No one needs to be told how good cling peaches are for dessert at lunch or dinner, simply chilled and served straight from the can. But do you "remember to remember" how good they are when served hot?

At breakfast, for instance. You are having pancakes or waffles. Try this: Drain some canned cling peach slices. Heat them in your favorite bottled syrup, with a little butter or margarine and a dash of allspice. Serve hot in a bowl for each person to spoon over those griddle-hot cakes on his plate.

Uniform in size, perfect in shape and color, canned cling peach halves make a beautiful garnish for any platter. Topped with a little butter and brown sugar and heated in oven or broiler, they are long-time favorites to serve with ham, hamburger or other quick-cooked meats.

For salads, of course, canned cling peaches are naturals. A simple peach salad with a toasted cheese sandwich — what could taste better or be easier to fix for lunch in dinette or dining room? Or a peach salad with a cup of hot soup and a toasted peanut butter and pickle relish sandwich. Or, for the weight-watcher, a beautiful peach half topping a bowl of low-calarie cottage cheese, with a cracker or two?

This is just a quick sampling of the reasons why those gay, cheerful beauties — canned cling peaches — keep winning the annual canned fruit popularity contest.

A Peachy Chiffon Pie Is Topper

Treasured among desserts are those that can be made hours ahead of time. And tops among those are the ones that bring the flattering request, "Won't you give me the recipe?'

"Peachy Chiffon Pie" is one of those toppers. It is not at all difficult to make. And it calls for ingredients you are likely to have on hand, such as canned cling peach slices.

PEACHY CHIFFON PIE

1 can (1 lb. 13 oz) cling peach slices
1 envelope plain gelatin
1¼ cups milk
2 eggs, separated
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup sugar
½ teaspoon almond extract
1 baked 9-inch pastry shell
1½ tablespoons powdered sugar
½ cup whipping cream
Maraschino cherries
Toasted slivered almonds

Drain peaches; set aside. (Kep syrup for use in other desserts or in drinks.) Soften gelatin in ¼ cup of milk. Heat remaining milk in saucepan. Beat egg yolks with salt and ¼ cup of sugar; stir in a little hot milk, then add to saucepan and cook over very low heat, stirring constantly until mixture coats on spoon. Add flavoring and softened gelatin; stir until gelatin dissolves. Chill until fairly thick. Beat egg whites almost stiff; gradually add remaining ¼ cup sugar, beating until tsiff. Fold into thickened gelatin mixture, then fold in most of the drained peaches. (Save some to garnish top.) Pour into baked pastry shell; chill 2 or 3 hours or longer. Shortly before serving, add powdered sugar to whipping cream; whip stiff and spread over pie. Decorate with reserved peach slices, maraschino cherries and almonds.

Makes 6 to 8 servings.

When you reconstitute a can of frozen orange or grapefruit concentrate, refrigerate it and use it in the next couple of days so its vitamin C will be at its highest peak.

Is There a Raider in House? Make Up Some Snacks Now

There's nothing more forlorn looking than an empty refrigerator, yet to a refrigerator raider, a full refrigerator with nothing for snacking is just as bad.

If you're the type of homemaker who has everything in the refrigerator tagged for a specific meal and maintain a strict rule against raiders, here are some ideas to keep raiders happy without cutting into planned meals.

When you make a refrigerator dessert, make extras, not for another meal but for between-meal snacking. Instead of mixing a salad at the last minute, make a good size marinated salad. Then when your husband gets hungry before dinner is ready, serve him an appetizer salad or a bowl of cold soup — right out of the refrigerator.

For between-meal sandwiches or quick before dinner hors d'oeuvres mix up a cheese and real mayonnaise spread.

As for the children who are always looking for a drink of milk, keep a shaker of chocolate flavored milk in the refrigerator. Use whole milk, if you like, but don't overlook the convenience and economy of dry skim milk.

If you mix it ahead and chill it thoroughly, they will never know that it is skim milk. The fortified chocolate flavoerd syrup adds vitamins A, B2, D2, niacin and iron and the skim milk of course has all the nutrients of whole milk except for the vitamin A.

CORN STARCH PUDDING

½ cup sugar
6 tablespoons corn starch
¼ teaspoon salt
4 cups milk
1½ teaspoons vanilla

Blend together sugar, corn starch and salt in top of a double boiler. Gradually add milk, mixing until smooth. Place over boiling water and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture is thick, about 10 minutes. Cover and continue cooking 10 minutes longer, stirring occasionally. (If using a glass double boiler, increase this second cooking period to 15 minutes. If water in bottom of the boiler evaporates considerably, add more boiling water.; Remove boiler from heat. Add vanilla; cool without stirring. Pour into individual molds and chill. To unmold, slip knife at side of mold; let mold slip out. Serve with Melba sauce. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

MELBA SAUCE

2 teaspoons corn starch
1 tablespoon water
½ cup light corn syrup
½ cup currant jelly
1 cup fresh or frozen (thawed) raspberries or strawberries

Combine ingredients in order given in small saucepan. Mix thoroughly. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly until mixture comes to a full boil. Boil 1 to 2 minutes or until somewhat thickened and clear. Remove from heat. Strain. Chill. Makes 1¾ cups.

APPETIZER SALAD

1 (1 pound 13-ounce) can green or wax beans
1 tablespoon chopped scallions
1 tablespoon chopped green pepper
1 tablespoon chopped pimiento
⅓ cup corn oil
¼ cup vinegar
1 tablespoon sugar
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 radishes, sliced

Drain beans; reserve liquid for marinade, adding water, if necessary, to make 1-3 cup liquid. Combine beans, scallions, green pepper, and pimiento in medium-size bowl. Mix corn oil, vinegar, sugar, salt, pepper, and bean liquid together; pour over vegetables and marinate in refrigerator at least three hours. Add radishes just before serving. Serve plain o ron lettuce leaves. Makes 4 salad servings or 8 appetizer servings.

CORN APPETIZER

Cook 3 medium-size ears of corn until tender; cut ears crosswise into rounds ½-inch thick. Follow recipe for Appetizer Salad, substituting corn rounds for beans, using 1 cup cooking water for bean liquid, and increasing salt to 2 geaspoons. Serve as appetizer, salad or part of antipasto plate.

SUMMER BEAN SALAD

Cook and drain 1 pound fresh beans or 2 (9-ounce) packages frozen beans; reserve 1-3 cup cooking liquid. Follow recipe for Appetizer Salad, substituting fresh or frozen beans for canned, and using 1-3 cup cooking liquid in marinade.

REFRIGERATOR SOUP

1 envelope Swiss recipe cream of mushroom soup mix
2¼ cups water
1 (8 to 8½-ounce) can peas
¾ cup light cream
1 large slice onion, broken into rings

Empty soup mix into saucepan. Gradually stir in water. Bring to boil, stirring constantly. Reduce heat; partially cover and simmer 10 minutes. Meanwhile drain peas, reserving liquid, and press through coarse sieve. Stir pureed peas, reserved liquid and light cream into cooked soup. Add onion rings. Chill. Strain before serving. Garnish with chopped chives, if desired. Makes 4 servings.

EASY CHEESE SPREAD

1 cup finely shredded cheese
1-3 cup real mayonnaise

Combine cheese and mayonnaise, mixing well. Makes about ½ cup.

Try Bean, Mushroom Vinaigrette

The color green is not only popular with the Irish but with everyone who associates this cool color with summer. Green salads are delightful and here's one made of green beans that is truly a tangy treat. Green beans, button mushrooms and onion rings are marinated in a tempting dressing of oil and vinegar spiced with dry mustard, celery salt and garlic.

Bean and Mushroom Vinaigrette is simple to prepare and simply delicious to eat. It's a perfect complement to summer menus. The delightfully tangy dressing is made with the modern oil—Safflower oil. You'll find it wonderfully easy to use, just pour to measure. This light, golden oil has a delicate, natural flavor that is perfect for salad dressings.

Here is a recipe for Bean and Mushroom Vinaigrette as developed in the Betty Crocker Kitchens:

Bean and Mushroom Vinaigrette

½ cup Safflower oil
¼ cup vinegar
1 clove garlic, minced
1 tsp. celery salt
1 tsp. dry mustard
½ tsp. salt
1 can (1 lb.) green beans
1 can (4 oz.) button mushrooms
1 small onion, sliced thin
1 tbsp. chopped pimiento

Blend oil, vinegar and seasonings in covered jar. Shake well. Blend beans, mushrooms, onion, separated into rings, and pimiento in a bowl. Pour oil-vinegar mixture over vegetables. Cover; refrigerate overnight. Serve in lettuce cups. 4 to 6 servings.

Variation: Mushrooms can be marianted alone in vinegar - oil mixture; serve on toothpicks as hors d'oeuvres.

Add an Extra Bit of Flavor

For that extra bit of flavor that makes eating an adventure, try a sauce of tomato, salt, vinegar, sugar, spices or flavorings, onion or garlic. This spicy sauce is convenient to use, for you'll find it ready at hand int he catsup bottle.

Resort to it often to add character to meat dishes; accent your favorite cheese dip, casserole, and salad dressing; enrich brown gravy while it's simmering on the stove. Use it instead of tomatoes when a more vivid flavor is called for.

Keep one or more bottles always available in the refrigerator for use as a cooking ingredient as well as a condiment for the table. For convenience, choose catsup in glass bottles with easy-to-open and close "twist-off" caps.

A Gourmet's Quick Finale

Quick gourme finale for feast or everyday fare is the result with this simple glass-packed fruit dessert: Place in small oven cassuch as peaches, cherries, fruit ad, or a combination. jskprinkle with half teaspoon brown sugar or maple syrup and one teaspoon of a favorite liqueur. Place under broiler few minutes and serve hot.

Teenager Asks . . .

By JOE BAVARESCO

Dear Mr. Bavaresco:

I was glad to see a parent write to you. I am a parent of two teen-age boys and I have a big worry. I found three girlie magazines hidden in my son's room. Since when do people sell this trash to teen-agers and what can be done?

A Parent

Dear Parent:

This is one of so many, many letters on this same subject. It is a horrible situation. Where do teen-agers get them? They're carried at almost every newsstand. They're publicized in leading magazines. I've even found them in barber shops.

They claim freedom of the press. So most of the time the police have no choice.

The fault lies with the newsstand owner and operators who make money and therefore sell to anyone who has the price.

Are the morals of teen-agers shot?

On the whole, teen-agers' morals are good; but like so many things, it's the few who make it bad for the rest. However, sex is such a capitalized subject in this country that whatever sells must have something to do with sex.

Example: Hollywood. No longer must you be a great actor or actress, all you must have is a figure and the right measurements.

This subject is like anything else teen-agers see. They are naturally inquisitive and want to be up to date. It is intriguing also because it is a hush-hush subject. Yet all they have to do is watch TV and the knowledge they learn about sex is endless. It's all the wrong knowledge, but nonetheless it is bountiful.

Last week at 4 or 5 p.m., there was a movie on TV that was for adults only. It said so at the beginning.

The words and story were filthy. Yet I checked the television log and that same day at 12:30 a.m. they had a western for kids. You tell me where there is sense in that.

If you ask yourself why you want to see a picture for adults only and you find it because you're curious; well so are teen-agers.

And as long as there are people who exploit this subject, there will be curious teen-agers who are too young to realize what is happening to their morals.

The more you try to hide this topic, the more curious they become. You say I'm contradicting myself. Not really. Expoit and expose. You can expose teen-agers to this subject in moderation and good taste or you can let the advertisers exploit it.

As to what can be done—very little. You can, however, start in your own home by proper guidance in this subject. What the country needs is a good dose of cod liver oil. They tell me that cures everything. I wonder if it cures a low-moral standard.

Teen-agers! If you have problems or questions you'd like discussed, you may send them to me, care of The Post, 30 Park Plaza drive, Daly City, or to Joe Baveresco, Camp Meeker, Calif.

The Top Ten

Here's a list of the top ten tunes teen-agers in the North county are listening to, according to reports from local record stores.

GOOD-BYE — Two exchange students are bid bon voyage by members of the American Field Service committee for Westmoor High school. At left is Helen Frisell of Sweden, who is returning to Stockholm. At her side is Mary Jane Putz who will visit Europe. Committee members are Mrs. Jean Suenderman, Americans Abroad chairman and at right, Mrs. Eleanor Raymond, Home Adjustment chairman for visiting students.

Two Exchange Students Leave D.C. for Europe

Two exchange students — one American and one Swedish — have left Daly City for Europe.

Helena Frisell of Stockholm, Sweden, is returning to her home after spending a school year at Westmoor High school. She was a guest of the family of Mr. and Mrs. William Wagner.

She now is on a six-weeks bus tour of the United States with other overseas students. After the tour, she will return to Stockholm.

The other student is Mary Jane Putz who is representing Westmoor High school and Daly City in the summer program of the American Field Service.

She sailed from New York City to Rotterdam with hundreds of other high school juniors from AAmerica.

She will spend two months in Italy. One month will be spent with a family at Ancona and the other with a family in Rome.

Crusade Goal Is $660,000

Leonard J. Bardsley, 1963 campaign chairman for the United Crusade of San Mateo county, reported last week that the county Crusade will have a total goal of $660,000.

The figure represents a seven per cent increase over the total amount raised in the 1962 campaign and is San Mateo county's share of the $11,407,000 goal for the five counties in the United Bay Area Crusade.

Loan Leaders Hold Session

Growth of California in the years to come will far exeed anything we previously have known, according to John F. Marten, president of the California Savings and Loan league.

Speaking at the anual meeting of the California Society of Certified Public Accountants in Pasadena, Marten said that later in the '60s and into the '70s we shall see "in our country generally, and in California in particular, a greater demand for housing than has ever been known in the past."

Marten said that during 1962 savings and loan associations in California invested $5.5 billion in real estate loans. This represented more than 70 per cent of all real estate loans made by lending institutions in California.

"A recent University of Southern California study indicates that population will increase from around 15.7 million in 1960 to about 30 million by 1980," Marten said.

"The amount of money savings and loan associations are investing in the development of real estate in California to meet this growth will show a large increase in years to come. The industry will continue to carry the major share of the responsibility in financing California's growth."

Home Mutual Sets 4.5 Rate

Sherman Miller, executive vice president and managing officer of Home Mutual Savings and Loan association, announced that the directors of the association have declared a 4.5 per cent dividend to be paid on all savings accounts for the quarter commencing July 1.

According to Miller, the current mortgage market and general economic conditions indicate this to be a logical move.

"This decision by our directors is in response to the urgings of the Federal Home Loan Bank board. It is in keeping with the actions of other major savings and loan associations in this area and is, in the opinion of our directors, the only sound and prudent action to take at this time," stated Miller.

Bank Reports Lending High

New highs in loans, deposits and resources and a strong earnings performance highlighted Bank of America's mid-year statement of condition.

The record loan figure is $7,857,823,853, an increase of $663,828,904 since a year ago.

Deposits totaled $12,354,790,523, an increase of $821,726,983 over a year ago.

Total resources of the bank rose $900,227,712 over the same date to $13,687,402,920, an increase of last year.

Mosaics Are His Speciality

Completes Mural for Aquarium

By LOUANNE HEATH

ANY WOMAN who allows her husband to move eight tons of assorted rocks and pebbles into their home must be terribly understanding or, if your husband's interests are as numerous and varied as those of William Wagner, of 78 Northgate avenue, Daly City, you just grow used to such things.

Whatever her initial reaction to all the rock, however, Mollie Wagner has nothing now but deep pride in her voice when she speaks of her husband, his career and his hobbies.

Wagner has completed two impressive mosaics for the newly remodeled Steinhart Aquarium, which re - opened in Golden Gate park after a shutdown of more than a year.

One of his creations is a monumental piece of craftsmanship, measuring 40 feet long and five feet high. The other is a small disc upon which three fish swim about a Moorish idol.

Mosaics have interested Wagner for several years but it wasn't until he met Richard Hatch, a Palo Alto resident who owns 40 quarries, that he began intensively collecting rock for mosaics.

The promise of a wide variety of materials and his discovery of a new adhesive for mosaics, hydrocal B-11, a gypsum dental cement that lends itself readily to artistic work, led Wagner to create a series of small mosaics for friends.

His longtime friend, Dr. Earl S. Herald, curator of aquatic biology for the aquarium, collaborated on a mosaic with Wagner during an early period of experimentation in the art.

The finished product, in Wagner's opinion, was unsatisfactory.

When plans to remodel the equarium were made, Wagner asked Dr. Herald to discard the early work that had been on display.

Dr. Herald agreed to retire the small mosaic if Wagner would cover the entire wall adjacent to the dolphin tank with one depicting sea life.

The suggestion was acceptable to Wagner who agreed to donate his time if funds to cover the cost of rock and cement could be obtained. They were.

MURAL ARTISTRY — Visitors to the re-opened Steinhart Aquarium in Golden Gate Park, San Francisco, will see this fish mosaic, part of a 40-foot mosaic created by William Wagner of Daly City. Wagner gathered rock, stones and pebbles from the Western States and Mexico for the mosaic.

WILLIAM WAGNER works carefully at a new mosaic in his backyard workshop. He collects stones and pebbles from throughout the western states for his hobby.

A FIRST STEP in creating the wall was the construction of a 20-inch square mold of wood into which rock patterns were placed.

"I kept worrying about how it was going to turn out, "Mrs. Wagner confided. "I kept hoping it would turn out all right but Bill had never done anything like this before and I was a little nervous."

Wagner, who was art director for a San Francisco television station for nine years, selected for his design a pot pourri of fish from the illustrations in Dr. Herald's book, "Living Fishes of the World."

To execute the patterns, he gathered rose quartz from Mexico for a school of small fish, an unusual green rock from Guatamala for another and white quartz from Canada for a third.

Chrystalline silicon, a waste material in some chemical processes, was gathered and used for the body of a single fish.

A milky type of crystal from the Mojave desert, green quartz from Utah, river pebbles from Washington and Oregon, copper ore from Nevada and a small gray stone from near the grave of Juan Batista de Anza also found their way into the mold.

IN CONNECTION with De Anza's grave, Wagner has played an important role in all of the events concerned with the discovery of the grave and the subsequent reburial of de Anza's remains.

A little over three months ago, while Wagner was involved in the filming a history of the San Francisco Presidio for the army, he heard of the work being done on the floor of the church de Nuestra Senora de la Asuncion in Arizpe, Mexico.

He flew to Mexico and drove to the tiny village over roads he later learned were classified impassable.

Despite the rigors of the trip he managed to be one of the first outsiders to arrive on the scene and during the ensuing weeks became a fast friend and interpreter for the town's priest, Father Antonio Magellane.

Later, when the priest came to San Francisco, Wagner served as official interpreter for a citizens committee.

He arranged for the Army to fly in 3000 pounds of marble for a new sarcophagus.

Later, Wagner returned to the Mexican village to oversee the arrival of the marble and be on hand to take part in ceremonies connected with the reburial of Anza's remains.

"When Hillman Hudson, who designed the sarcophagus, learned that I had worked with rock, he appointed me the director of assembling the marble pieces once it arrived in Mexico," Wagner recounted.

"For the size of the pieces, the rock had been cut very thin for amateurs to work with but we managed to get it together without mishap.

"I have been invited back to Arizpe in September for a celebration and at that time I will see if we can arrange to bring the original be.. from the old church to San Francisco.

It is cracked and the priest hopes to obtain a new one. If he does and we are able to secure the permission of the archbishop of Senora, I would like to see it placed on a monument on the grounds of the Presidio.

ART AND history are not the only active avocations of this intensely interesting man who spent his youth touring Central America learning about Mayan culture from his archeologist father.

While he plans to do a bit more experimenting with rocks and mosaics, he has now turned his attention to a scientific expedition to Nicaragua, scheduled to get under way in the fall of 1964.

The trip, which has been in the planning stages for five years, will be with Dr. Herald and a group of ichthyologists who will attempt to catch white, man - eating sharks of Lake Nicaragua near the city of Granada.

These fresh water sharks, the only ones of their type in the world, will probably require two or three weeks to capture, according to Wagner.

"We'll have to rise early in the morning for our attempts, for as soon as the sun is well up the water becomes so hot the sharks submerge to the bottom of the lake and stay there until dark."

"If we are successful, the fish will be brought back to the United States in special plastic tanks that are super oxygenated. Dr. Herald is still working with a manufacturer to secure the proper equipment for this trip," Wagner explained.

To occupy his immediate spare time, Wagner hopes to be able to build one more mosaic, this time for his own patio.

His two sons also have taken an interest in rock and fossil collecting and have completed several mosaics but Mrs. Wagner, though interested in the rock work prefers to paint and the violin.

Herkenrath Jail Term Is Extended

Kent Herkenrath, former Westmoor High school and College of San Mateo track coach who is currently serving a one-year jail sentence in Santa Clara county for department store robberies faces an additional six months in jail on a San Francisco sentence for the same offense.

Superior Judge Francis McCarty last week sentenced Herkenrath to the six-month sentence, placed him on three years probation, and ordered the former San Jose State hurdler to pay back the entire $3000 taken in robberies from two Stonestown stores.

Judge McCarty stated that he agreed with Herkenrath's own opinion of himself—that he was 90 per cent a "basically good fellow" and that only 10 per cent of his personality made him commit the San Francisco robberies and four others on the Peninsula.

He issued the sentence after the coach's attorney, Marvin Lewis, made a plea that his client be granted probation.

"I am in agreement with the defendant's attorney that this does not call for a penitentiary sentence," the judge said, "but the defendant does not share the apparent rose - colored opinion, held by many, that he is an outstanding and tremendously talented young man.

"He has been a mediocre student, a good coach and athlete but not a great one. He not only let his friends down but the children he coached."

Herkenrath, who stated that gambling debts forced him to commit the robberies, reportedly used his track starter's pistol in committing the crimes.

Feyge Makes Appointments

Pacifica Mayor Harold Feyge last week announced several reappointments to city boards and committees, as decided on by a city council personnel meeting Monday night.

Reappointed were Margaret Mosely, parks, beach and recreation commission; Dirwood Bird and Robert Hilt, personnel advisory board, and Robert Bullock, safety committee. Mrs. Mosely's term is for four years, the others for two.

A personnel advisory board vacancy caused by resignation of James Kafantaris won't be filled until after July 8, when all applicants have been interviewed, Feyge said.

Thornton Beach Work Won't Be Finished Until Nov. 15

Daly City's plans to open Thornton Beach with complete picnic and restroom facilities this summer have been shattered by a report from the division of beaches and parks that construction work on the facilities won't be completed until November 15.

Harry Dean Jr., regional supervisor of planning and development, informed city manager Edward Frank that three contracts for work on the beach have been awarded and due to unexpected delays completion of the project cannot be made this summer.

Some grading has been done providing easy access to the beach.

Completion of two restroom buildings and office by the R. L. Sage construction firm is expected by July 31.

Sewage disposal facilities by the Mitchell Plumbing company is anticipated by October 1and picnic facilities, walks, fencing and signs by the Bragato Paving company are expected to be completed by November 15.

Dean said the original intent of the division of beaches and parks was to put the buildings and sewage disposal facilities under one contract, using septic tanks and leach lines for the sewage.

The San Mateo county health offer, however, informed the division that this type installation was not acceptable in this location and so work was begun on only the building portion of the contract.

The design of the sewage system was a problem, Dean said, because of the 150-foot difference in elevation between the rest rooms and the sewer main.

The Mitchell Plumbing firm said the pressure sewer lines that have been ordered would not be delivered for another five weeks and work won't begin at Thornton Beach until August 15.

Enterprising Thief Halted By Janitors

An enterpiring thief, using various implements from a Colma store he had hidden in after it had closed, was surprised in the act of taking some $4000 worth of narcotics and barbituates from the store's pharmacy department early last Wednesday morning.

The thief was discovered by two janitors at the Alec Discount House at 257 D. St. Charged with burglary was Kenneth R. Lavin, 33, of San Francisco.

He was arrested by Broadmoor Patrolman Charles Manning shortly after 2 a.m. Manning had been summoned by the janitors.

Broadmoor Police Chief Ray Savage described this sequence of events leading up to the arrest:

The suspect had hidden under a bed in the store's furniture department after a 9 p.m. closing hour Tuesday.

He then took a hatchet from the hardware department, gloves from the clothing department and two suitcases from the luggage department.

Breaking a large plate glass window in the store's pharmacy, the suspect filled the two suitcases with narcautics and barbituates.

When he made preparations to leave, he was spotted by the two janitors who had arrived at the store at 1 a.m.

Manning said he found the suspect crouched in a corner of the hardware department.

Geneva City of Trees, Fountains

EDITORS NOTE: Iva Newman is touring Europe. This report is from Switzerland and Italy.)

By IVA NEWMAN

The first thing every tourist sees as he comes into Genva is a fountain in Lake Geneva. This fountain shoots seven tons of water into the air every minute. Our hotel room was on a corner next to the lake and facing Mount Blanc. It was such an impressive sight we had trouble closing the two pair of shutters, one outside the window and one inside, both of wood, and drawing the heavy drapes. It was raining so a short walk satisfied our curiosity this first evening.

Morning brought bright sunshine and a wonderful tour of the city. Later we walked along the lake for two or three miles in order to get a picture of the Asia Memotia, De Woodrow Wilson, President des Etats, Kinis Fordatevt de la Societe Des Nations. California redwood, sycamore and copper beech trees made the garden around this building very lovely. In the park along the lake a copper beech had been topped and trained as a huge oval. It was most unusual and attractive.

We drove past the famous Geneva rose garden but the roses needed a full month more to bloom. We were very surprised to see the huge beds of roses that followed the street along the west side of the lake. At least two or three miles of 50-foot wide beds of roses followed one another on this drive. Our guide explained this was Geneva's finest home area and everything must be beautiful. We also visited the famous "Flower Clock" and took pictures from several angles. Succulents and small fibrous begonias made up the greater portion of this clock. Golden Gate park will have a similar clock in working order soon, the gift of Switzerland, I believe.

We took several pictures of the tree-lined streets and the tree-shaded parking areas. It was quite a surprise to see the liberal use of trees in a busy downtown shopping area. They added greatly to the comfort of the shoppers, we found.

Our next jump took us via train through the Alps to the little town of Stressa in Northern Italy. We stopped here for the sole purpose of visiting the famous Isola Bella garden. These gardens surround the sumptuous palace and summer home of the Bottomeos which is on an island a few miles out in Lago Maggiore. As we landed on the island we were rushed by a host of hawkers and artisans who made a great deal of noise in an effort to attract our attention to their wares. It was lots of fun.

Our guide was horrified that we were more anxious to see the gardens than we were the palace, so we dutifully followed him through the enormous halls and ohed and ahed over the rich Genorese marble, Venezian glasses, busts of former owners and kings, and the paintings by famous artists.

We were really very impressed with this castle, first, because it was so clean—there was no dust anywhere. Our guide informed us that the family spent their summers there using the upper floors so the public could visit the historic rooms on the "Terra" floor. By doing this, they could retain the property without paying taxes.

The rooms were beautiful. The music room, now known as the "Conference Room" is huge. The walls were hung with many famous canvasses. This room gets its recent name from the historic conference held in it on April 11, 1935. We were quite impressed over the Napoleon bedroom, a small affair of a big hall-like room, that contained the bed the great general slept in when he visit the castle in 1797. They also showed us the "Room of the Queen," a very ornate place with many valuable paintings with 18 karat gold frames. The emperor of Austria, the archduke of Austria and other notables had slept in this room.

However, it was the garden we had come to see and it was worth our every effort. This garden built on a rocky piece of land that jutted upward from the lake. Our guide explained that the garden was considered one of the most extraordinary examples of Italian gardening, but he did not know the name of the architect whose creative ingenuity and skill enabled him to construct a garden that would retain its beauty for more than 300 years and would gain fame as the years rolled by. Clever terracing created several large level areas where large groups could be entertained.

The terracing and the steps were oll of white Italian marble. Among the plants we recognized magnolia trees, grown to mammoth size, laurels, tall Italian cypresses, cedar, orange and lemon trees, camellias and oleanders. All along one descending stairway were beds of roses. Many of these were hybred teas that did not exist 300 years ago so I know the roses must have replaced varities of an earlier vintage. We were particularly impressed with the training of a blue cedar tree which had been arched and pruned to form a narrow divider between two areas. I exclaimed over the beautiful plantings and the guide said the records showed that even General Bonaparte, when there in 1797 had been impressed by the beautiful collection of plants.

We left Stressa and our hotel with its beautiful rose garden with regret. Again we traveled by train and marvelled over the change in the countryside as we moved south to Venice. We were taken to our hotel by gondola and as we moved between the buildings that rose directly up from the water we were amazed to see the wide variety of plants that hung over the walls. Ivy and the "Silver Lace Vine" seemed to be the most popular but we saw clamatis and bougainvillea in quantity also.

However, it was the canals that fascinated us and we spent most of our time on the water-roadways of this ancient town. Our last evening we had a "serenade" tour by gondola. A flat-bottom boat, containing a piano with several musicians, was hung with several strings of lights, furnished the music. Gondolas, full of people, preceded this boat, flanked it several deep on both sides and followed it from behind as we moved along the grand canal. It was a thrilling sight made doubly beautiful by a full moon that rode lazily overhead.

New Spray Will Save Honeybees

A method of protecting honeybees from sprays used to kill corn pests has been developed by University of California scientists.

Dr. Lauren D. Anderson, entomologist in the Citrus Research center and Agricultural Experiment station, Riverside, reported on the technique at a recent entomology conference attended by some 200 industry and government people interested in insecticides.

Dr. Anderson pointed out that bees are worth six to eight million dollars yearly to California keepers for the honey they produce and worth many times that amount to farmers who depend on bees for pollinating crops. also of UCR, Dr. Anderson worked out the safer spra application methods in Coachella valley and near Chino and Bakersfield.

"We found out something that hadn't been recognized before," he said, "This was that bees only visit sweet corn when it is actively shedding pollen, usually early in the morning. We ran many tests using an insecticide of the carbamate amily (Sevin). Least injury to bees occurred when the chemical was applied in the afternoon or late at night. Power sprays were safer to bees than dust, but even dust could be used if the operator was careful not to direct the dust into the tassel where the bees visit."

When these precautions are taken, bee injury is reduced to a bare minimum, said Anderson. Corn growers, beekeepers and pest control operators can now live with the problem.

Plant of the Week

Plant of the week is Ceanothus Griseus, popularly known as "Carmel Ceanothus." It is used as a hedge on the street side of the Lloyd Cunningham home at 80 Del Monte drive, Hillsborough.

Caenothus Is Featured Plant

Ceanothus griseus, popularly known as the "Carmel Ceanothus," is The Times Plant of the Week. Our Plant this week is used as a hedge on the street side of the Lloyd Cunningham home at 80 Del Monte drive, Hillsborough.

Nature as well as man has done so much hybridizing of the native ceanothus that it is difficult to be sure of a variety. We checked this ceanothus with experts and the name we are using is their educated guess. Mrs. Cunningham could not help us as the plants were there when she moved in. They are, we think, about eight years old. The height is around five feet and the color of the close to two-inch clusters is a lovely blue.

Another excedingly lovely blue-flowered ceanothus hedge may be found along the railroad tracks in front of the Coulter nursery in San Carlos. This hedge attracts a lot of attention and each spring the boys in the nursery are besieged with questions on the variety. Although many people have tried to get the correct name, none of the experts will say for sure and none know the source of the existing plants.

Ceanothus is also known as "Wild Lilac" because of the clusters of white to deep blue flowers. It is a native of the California hills with forty-four species being found in the state. While there are both deciduous and evergreen varieties, the ones most generally used for gardens are evergreen. They are very easy to grow as their only definite requirement is a well-drained soil. Some varieties need pinching while young to keep them pact and bushy.

Today, gardeners are wiser to choose one of the named hybrids for his planting plan as these hybrids are far more predictable in both growth habit and flowering. Several native plantsmen such as the late Fred Edmunds and the Saratoga Horticultural Foundation have produced some fine dependable hybrids. These have been vegetatively produced so they will be exact duplicates of the parent. This is not possible with seed grown plants.

Ceanothus griseus "Louis Edmunds" is produced from cuttings taken from a very outstanding plant of C. griseus which Edmunds found and observed for some time before propagating it. This named ceanothus makes a dense shrub four to six feet tall and eight to 12 feet wide. It has dark green, glossy leaves; sea-blue flowers produced abundantly in compact, cylindrical clusters in April and May. It has a preference for full sun.

Ceanothus "Julia Phelps" is a hybrid between C. papillosus variety roweanus and C. impressus. It makes a large shrub six to eight feet high and eight to 10 feet wide. It has small furrowed leaves and flowers of deep cobalt blue lavishly produced in April and May.

Ceanothus x "Mountain Haze" is a selected seedling of Ceanothus x "La Primavera." This variety makes a compact shrub, resembling C. impressus, four to six feet tall and eight feet wide. It has the small furrowed leaves and bluebird blue flowers borne in March and April in profuse small clusters. It, too, prefers sun.

Ceanothus x "Ray Hartman" makes a large shrub some 10 to 15 feet tall and 12 to 15 feet wide. Its ancestry is not known for sure but is thought to be a hybrid between C. arboreus and C. griseus. It has large, dark green leaves and bluebird blue flowers borne in March and April in abundant three to five-inch clusters. It is another sun lover.

Planting O.K. Year Around

Twenty or 30 years ago it was the general conception that planting and landscaping of property could only be done in the spring months, but this has changed completely. Today, it is done all year long unless frost or rain make it too difficult.

The methods for transplanting trees and shrubs from nurseries to home properties has changed considerable. The plants are kept in containers in the summer months so the homeowner does not disturb the roots in transplanting to his property. Adequately balled and burlapped plants receive special care in the nursery for summer planting.

Save Trees Plan Ready

A $15,000 program to save 100 acres of prime virgin redwood trees in Big Basin State park adjoining San Mateo county has been announced by the Sierra club.

At the same time the club's Loma Prieeta chapter, which includs San Mateo county, announced a drive for donations totalling $40,000 to buy the trees.

Some $115,000 has been raised for the purchase of timber rights to the Santa Cruz county land, purchased by the state in 1961, by the Sierra club, Save the Redwood league, the San Francisco Foundation, Varian associates, private donations and $66,000 in unappropriated state park funds obtained by State Senator Donald L. Grunsky.

SUNDAY NIGHT SPECIAL — A casserole of whole kernel corn, dried beef and other good things.

Corn, Dried Beef Quick Casserole

Much as fresh vegetables are used in summer, there probably isn't a cook who doesn't also rely on her pantryshelf in this season.

We find that the canned goods section in our own kitchen is a particularly comforting spot at suppertime, Sunday night! The week's supply of fresh foods has usually dwindled and there may be an unexpected guest for this casual meal.

If you're interested in a quick-to-put-together pantryshelf main dish, here's one we tried recently and enjoyed. The corn and dried beef it uses are foods that men usually like.

You might like to serve the corn and dried beef dish with chilled cucumber and tomato slices. And lots of hot biscuits are a must. For dessert, fresh fruit and cookies are a good choice.

CORN AND DRIED BEEF CASSEROLE

3 tbsp. butter or margarine
2 tbsp. finely chopped onion
½ cup chopped dried beef
3 eggs
¼ cup milk
2 tbsp. flour
¼ tsp. salt
½ cup grated mild cheddar cheese
2 cans (12 ounces each) with kernel corn with sweet peppers, drained

Melt butter in a small skillet over low heat; add onion and dried beef and cook until onion is just tender; reserve. In a medium-size bowl beat eggs until they are thickened and lemon-colored; add milk, flour and salt and beat well. Stir in cheese, drained canned corn and onion-beef mixture. Pour into a greased 1½-quart baking dish (6½ by 8¼ by 2¼ inches). Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven about 35 minutes. Let stand 5 or 10 minutes before serving. Makes 6 servings.

CANNED CLING PEACH slices are rolled up in thin French pancakes and then heated in rich-flavored peach syrup. They are served on heated plates, topped with cold dairy sour cream.

Peach Crepes Are 'Spectacular'

If your husband likes to cook, it's a cinch he likes to do something spectacular. Particularly something he can do in front of guests.

Then he will love to fix these French crepes with peaches. You will no doubt cooperate by seeing that the thin French pancakes are made ahead of time. (They can be stacked, wrapped and refrigerated or frozen, you know.) And you'll see that the other makings are at hand.

When he takes over at the chafing dish or electric skillet you can sit back admiringly, to enjoy the results of his showmanship. Incidentally, the results are even better than the show, for those peach-filled pancakes, heated in rich peach syrup, and served topped with thick sour cream, are not only glamorous but downright good eating.

Peach Crepes

1 can (1 lb. 13 oz., cling peach slices
½ cup peach jam or preserves
1 tablespoon lemon juice
12 to 18 French pancakes or crepes
½ pint dairy sour cream

Drain syrup from cling peach slices into saucepan. Add peach jam or preserves. Simmer, stirring occasionally, until syrup thickens slightly. Add lemon juice. Pour hot syrup into chafing dish; light burner and keep syrup hot. Wrap 2 or 3 peach slices in each French pancake. (Allow at least 2 pancakes per person.) Arrange the peach-filled crepes in the hot syrup in the chafing dish, along with any remaining slices. Baste frequently with the hot syrup, until crepes are well-glazed with the syrup and thoroughly hot. Serve 2 or 3 crepes and a few extra peach slices on each heated dessert plate; top with a generous spoonful of cold dairy sour cream.

Makes 6 servings.

Boiled Dressing Always Indication of Summertime

When we were young we knew summertime had really arrived when Boiled Dressing began to be made in l rger than usual quantities.

Golden from egg yolks, smooth and unctuous from butter and what was called "rich" 80 m i l k, tangy with vinegar and sweet with sugar, this old-fashioned salad dressing was used in many ways.

It brightened summer's best salads — those simple concoctions of potatoes, green cabbage, or green lettuce and sliced ripered tomatoes.

It was literally poured over sliced hard-cooked eggs that were coupled with cooked asparagus or snap beans and strips of pimiento to make a colorful and delicious warm-weather luncheon plate. It made the stuffing for "deviled" eggs wonderfully agreeable.

Streamlined for 1963, its flavor is as old-time as ever. Whole eggs (instead of numerous egg yolks go in, and butter is omitted. Prepared yellow mustard (instead of dry mustard) gives striking color and excellent flavor. Water (instead of milk) is used for the liquid but the dressing's texture does not suffer.

Try the dressing, first, in this colorful slaw to serve with summer's cold meats. Then use it in some of the other old-fashioned ways we suggested.

COLESLAW WITH BOILED DRESSING

1 small green cabbage (about 1 pound)
¼ cup minced (1 small) onion
½ cup thinly sliced celery crescents
¼ cup slivered green pepper
¼ cup grated (1 small) carrot
1 can or jar (4 ounces) pimientos, drained and chopped
Boiled dressing
Salt and pepper

Finely shred cabbage to make 4 or 5 packed-down cups. Add onion, celery, green pepper, carrot, and pimientos. Pour over about 1 cup of the boiled dressing and mix well with two forks; add salt and pepper to taste. and more dressing if desired. Serve at once or cover and refrigerate. Makes about 8 servings.

BOILED DRESSING

2 tablespoons flour
3 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoon prepared yellow mustard
1 cup water
2 eggs
½ cup cider vinegar

In the top of a double boiler stir together the flour, sugar and salt; add mustard; gradually stir in water, keeping smooth. Cook and stir constantly over hot (not boiling) water until mixture looks like a thin white sauce. Beat eggs slightly, then gradually stir in vinegar and about half of the mixture. Stir this slowly into the hot mixture remaining in double boiler. Continue to cook and stir over hot water until mixture mounds slightly when dropped back from a spoon. Cool. Cover and chill. Makes 1½ to 1¾ cups dressing.

Try Cooling Off With Iced Tea

Next to a dip in the pool or a visit to an air-conditioned movie, a tall glass of iced tea is just about the best summer cooler there is. It's a refresher that really quenches your thirst and, because it's so low in calories and cost, you can drink all you want, all the day long. To make a big family-size pitcherful use this easy open saucepan method.

Iced Tea by the Pitcherful

Bring 1 quart of freshly drawn cold water to a full rolling boil in a saucepan. Remove from the heat and immediately add ⅓ cup loose tea or 15 teabags. Stir and let stand for 5 minutes uncovered. Stir again and strain into a pitcher holding another quart of cold water. Or use the convenient instant teas, allowing about 4 tablespoons of the soluble powder to 2 quarts of cold tap water.

Serve in ice-filled glasses with lemon and sugar to taste. Or serve it tropical style with fruit kabobs made by loading a swizzle stick or sipper with a cube of pineapple, a grape, a quarter slice of orange, a red cherry, a slice of lime and a strawberry.

A Simple Cookie Welcome Change

Do you ever get tired of rich cookies, and want to bake a simple one that is not too sweet? This Greek cooky has a cracker-like quality and is good served with morning coffee or tea.

Try Fruited Fluff Cake

Something to keep definitely in mind for the next birthday party you arrange—is festive "Fruited Party Fluff Cake." Nothing could carry out the party mood better than this angel food or chiffon cake chilled with a creamy ginger - tinged strawberry gelatin mixture glistening with canned fruit cocktail.

- 1 can (1 lb. 1 oz.) fruit cocktail
- ½ cup water
- 1 package (3 oz.) strawberry or raspberry gelatin
- 1 tablespoon chopped crystallized ginger
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 cup whipping cream
- 1 baked 9 or 10-inch angel food or chiffon cake

Drain fruit cocktail, reserving syrup and a tablespoonful of fruit for garnish. Combine syrup with water and heat to boiling. Remove from heat and add gelatin, stirring until dissolved. Cool until syrupy. Add fruit, ginger and lemon juice. Chill until mixture mounds on a spoon. Whip cream and fold in. Chill thoroughly and garnish with reserved fruit.

Here's the Difference Between 'Blue' and 'Bleu',

What's the difference—besides the spelling—between blue and bleu cheese?

Grocers often are asked this question, and here's the answer. Blue cheese is a semi-soft variety with delicious flavor streaks that give the cheese its characteristic salt-and-pepper taste.

The type made in France is called "blue," since that ist he French spelling for the word, "blue." That made in the United States naturally carries the English spelling, "blue."

The main difference between American blue and the blue-veined Roquefort cheese made in France is in the iknd of milk used. American blue cheese is made from cow's milk, while Roquefort is made from ewe's (sheep's) milk.

The primary achievement in American production methods, however, has been a quality control program. Rigid milk grading programs, daily sterilization of stainless steel equipment, and regular inspection by both state and federal governments assures the consumer of American blue cheese a sanitary product.

In addition, American blue cheese has been tailored to the taste of the U. S. consumer. American blue cheese has a cleaner flavor than foreign varieties.

This semi-soft cheese is crumbly in texture. It is ideal as a snack or buffet cheese. Many homemakers use American blue cheese as a dressing garniture or dip ingredient. It also can be used as a main dish ingredient. One of the most popular uses is on a Blueburger, which is a regular beef patty topped with crumbled American blue cheese.

Most grocery stores carry American blue cheese. This delicious specialty cheese is priced to fit the average budget. Since a little tastes like a lot, it can be used regularly.

Summer's Time For Soda-Sippin'

Sipping sodas is a warm-weather delight that's almost as old as summer itself! So wouldn't you like to know about a tasty new one to add to the refreshing pleasure of this great American pastime?

A Florida Sambee is a whiz of a soda, having lovely looks, super flavor and a definite plus, nutritionally speaking. Luscious, fresh-frozen Florida orange juice concentrate is the basis of this scrumptious soda, and its high natural vitamin C content and other nutrients are great for helping restore energy sapped by hot weather and summer's active sports.

Your choice of fresh or frozen mixed fruit and fruit sherbet are added to the reconstituted orange concentrate to make a Sambee. Strawberries, blueberries, raspberries, melon balls, diced peaches or pineapple are delicious in a variety of combinations, and orange, pineapple or lemon sherbet gives a cool touch.

Florida Sambee

1 can (6 ounces) frozen Florida orange juice concentrate
1½ cups diced fresh or frozen mixed fruit
½ pint orange, pineapple or lemon sherbet

Reconstitute orange juice concentrate according to directions on can. In three tall glasses, add a generous spoonful of diced fruit and fill three-quarters full with orange juice. Add a spoonful of sherbet and garnish with remaining fruit. YIELD: 3 servings.

Double Plastic Wall Insulation

Summertime is the right season to introduce your family and guests to practical and gay plastics that cut housework to a minimum. They will like the picnic air of gingham checks in new table accessories that are insulated to keep hot foods hot and iced drinks cold. No coasters required, since the double thickness of plastic, with air space in between, holds food at the right temperature, prevents "sweating," leaves no rings on the table.

Informal buffets, patio tables, boat picnics are more appreciated than sit-down meals around the family dining room table this time of year, especially by the hostess who can carry everything off with a lighthearted air on an unbreakable tray. Lustran double-wall tumblers, mugs for soup and coffee, double old-fashioned glasses, an ice bucket that doubles as a wine cooler, a pitcher for iced drinks, are all newly available in houseware departments.

Indoors or out, set a colorful summer table by combining the "gingham" plastic service with easy-care place mats or tablecloths. Vinyl plastic backed with urethane foam, or vinyl backed with flannel, protect tables and absorb clatter. For special parties make a festive tablecloth or mats out of man-made fibers in cool colors and flower prints. These wash and dry with little or no ironing.

Texas Creole . . . A Cookout Favorite

Down Texas way, folks do things better and bigger than anywhere else—or at least that's what tall Texans will tell you. But no matter where you hail from, you'll agree with us, that this Texas inspired shrimp creole dish IS the best. Its secret is a spicy barbecue sauce that adds the flavor of the outdoors to the dish, a flavor that is lively and zesty. Succulent with plump shrimp, this is bound to be a speciality at your home as cookout fare or as an indoor crowd pleaser.

Texas Creole

½ cup chopped onion
½ cup chopped green pepper
½ cup sliced celery
1 garlic clove, minced
Parkay margarine
1 qt. canned tomatoes
½ cup Kraft Barbecue Sauce
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 teaspoon salt
1 lb. cooked shrimp
Hot cooked rice

Saute onion, green pepper, celery and garlic in margarine until tender. Add combined tomatoes, barbecue sauce, cornstarch and salt, stirring until thickened. Add shrimp; heat. Serve with rice.

Bob Wellman's Music Big Hyatt House Attraction

CONTINENTAL DINING and dinner-dancing to Bob Wellmans' society orchestra is a Tuesday through Sunday fun feature in the swank Scherherazade Room of the Hyatt House Hotel in Burlingame. Cocktails and entertainment nightly in the Tourney Room lounge; coffee shop open 24 hours and featuring top sirloin steak sandwiches and smoked barbecue ribs. Hotel facilities include Olympic size swimming pool for summer time sunning and a tennis court. General manager Ed Sullivan invites you to make the Hyatt House your business meeting headquarters. . . . Bertolucci's, a handsome, new South San Francisco dining spot, has caught on big with its fine French-Italian cuisine. Specialty: Ravioli, gnocchi and tortolini, handmade by Mama Bertolucci. Also excellent wine list; superb Chateaubriand. Luncheon daily from $1.60. Dinner from $2.95. Closed Monday night. Your host is Larry Bertolucci; hostess, Lola Bogdan, his sister . . . If you haven't had a chance yet to sample the delicious foods and personal service at Walter's which opened last week at 2550 El Camino Real in Redwood City, suggest that you do so soon.

Bob Wellman

LOU ROCCA JR. has accomplished wonders with his Rocca's restaurant in San Francisco. Food is marvelous, service supreme. Open for both luncheon and dinner. The restaurant is packed daily with customers who appreciate the fine cuisine. Relax and enjoy a really fine dinner at Rocca's, a favorite with countless discriminating diners. . . . When you say The Lanai is "a part of the Islands" transplanted to the mainland, it's really an understatement. You'll find that the Oriental, East Indian and Hawaiian dishes are completely authentic in every respect. The same is true of the decor. You'll find the tables made of monkey-pod wood from the Islands, the walls are thatched, and to top it all off there's an orchid-bedecked waterfall that makes you feel you're truly "in the Islands." The Luau Room, which may be reserved for private parties, boasts its own authentic luau pit, from which may be brought the traditional suckling pig, complete with all the trimmings. Also a great selection of exotic drinks.

Lou Rocca Jr.

BOB ROBERTS has planned a July 1 through July 7 vacation for his Earl's House of Prime Rib. He will reopen Monday, July 8, at 11 a.m. for luncheon. Earl's is open seven days a week: Monday through Saturday from 11 a.m. to 10 p.m.; Sunday dinner from 4 p.m. Chef Tommy Yee delights in his steaks, seafood, chicken, prime ribs and many other tastems. Talented Lilli Ann entertains at the Hammond organ Thursday, Friday, and Saturday evenings. . . . Am looking forward to seeing George Mardikian's smiling face, once again, at his popular Omar Khayyam's Restaurant. Mr. Mardikian, who has been in the hospital, is making a rapid recovery, according to restaurant manager Alfred Keoseyan. . . . UNCLE JOHN'S PANCAKE HOUSES announced the winners of the recent National Children's Week Contest. Pictures of the lucky ones appeared in the Vacation Edition of The Times and Post on Tuesday. Jack Holder, local franchise holder, is to be congratulated on the way the contest was presented.

Lilli Ann

DURING A RECENT LAS VEGAS VISIT with my long-time friend Nat Cole, I mentioned how much I enjoyed his rendition of "Ramblin' Rose." It was then I learned that Nat has the youngest expert in the music business—his newest Capitol record and album, "Ramblin' Rose," one of the biggest hits he has had in years, was picked by his 12-year-old daughter, Natalie. Understand the record was brought to Cole by Jackie Gale, head of his (Cole's) K-C Record company for his consideration, along with some other country-western tunes. After hearing a demonstration record of "Ramblin' Rose," Natalie insisted this was one her friends and all teeners would love. Close to a million record buyers have confirmed her opinion at this writing. . . . Forest Farm Camps have three parts: Forest Farm (6 to 9 years), Forest Farm Roundup (10 to 13 years), and Forest Farm Tumbleweeds (12 to 15 years). The needs of the individual camper may be met and his life may be a richer experience through the wide variety of opportunities offered in these groups. The staff at Forest Farm Camps is trained to help and guide campers into a full and worthwhile summer.

Nat King Cole

PETER LIND HAYES AND MARY HEALY, one of the most outstanding husband-wife teams in show business today, are currently proving a smash hit as the stars of the International Follies on stage in the Circus Room theater-restaurant at the Nugget Casino in Sparks (East Reno), Nevada. . . . The Crystal Bay Club, located on the north end of Lake Tahoe, offers casino excitement, entertainment nightly on the stage of the cocktail lounge, and dancing Sparkling, new summer shows are now scheduled. Owners H. E. McCoskey and Slim LaBorde suggest you try their Mahogany broiled steaks, the way you like them at prices you can afford. Also available are the Crystal room facilities which may be used for banquets, meetings, conventions, etc. . . . The Las Vegas Hotel Sahara's downtown affiliate, the Mint, will have its sixth birthday this month, and a Las Vegas style celebration will begin on July 5 and last for about 10 days. During the charivari, Mint patrons will drink free draft beer and cocktails, champagne, help themselves to free souvenirs, compete for a 1963 auto, dig into wheelbarrows filled with silver dollars in the famous "Horn of Plenty" drawings, and munch slices of the Mint's birthday cake, which took five weeks just to design.

RENO, NEVADA, SKYLINE will take on an exciting new dimension today with the grand opening of the fabulous Golden in downtown Reno. From its plush carpeting to its sparkling chandeliers, the Golden will cast a lavish new tinge on the biggest little city, and although there's much more to be added to the swank downtown nitery, there's still much to enjoy right now.

The 200-seat Carnival Lounge, providing continuous entertainment from 5 p.m. to 4 a.m., will topline singing sensation Buddy Greco. Appearing on the same showbill will be the noted comedienne Helen Boice, The Frank Verna Four, the multi-talented Johnny Bachemin and The Notables. All this plus The Availables, six beautiful and talented girls, will blend together in a most exciting and refreshingly different entertainment package.

Aside from this whirlwind of entertainment, the Golden also offers a spacious gaming area, four smartly decorated, intimate bars and a cozy snack bar. Within a few weeks the Golden's 175-seat La Rue Cafe will be opened along with the plush Gourmet Room, an exquisite dining room. In a few months the 500-seat Mardi Gras theater-restaurant will open with a spectacular Barry Ashton stage production and there will be convenient drive-in parking for 300 cars.

On the drawing board at the Golden are plans for the addition of a 25-story hotel tower and a 100-seat convention center.

Dates Available At Pine Acres

Excellent dates are still available for trailer space, camping and housekeeping cabins at the Pine Acres Resort in Amador county. Pine Acres Resort is located in the heart of the trout fishing country—making it a vacation experience, in one of the most beautiful spots in California, to long remember.

Milt Tonini's Princeton Inn in Princeton by the Sea is open seven days a week serving breakfast, lunch and dinner. Jack London would smile if he were to view the nautical action here.

Dancing on weekends to the great music of Al Dote and the Kingsmen.

Phil Lehr's downtown Steakery has become the chow spot for before and after Giant games. The speedy service and top food is drawing crowds of afternoon and night game Giants fans.

There is a most interesting restaurant located in the Casa Madrona Hotel, 156 Bulkley Avenue in Sausalito, called Le Vivoir Restaurant Francaes. If you enjoy French food and are searching for a new dinner spot, put this name down as a must visit.

It's getting close to the last call for July Fourth reservations at the Mountain View Caravan Inn. The $12.00 special that Manager Betty Sedam has scheduled for "Family Day" is a real "fire cracker."

The Three-days and Two-nights weekend package also rates your special attention.

Triple S Ranch For Vacation

Enjoy a restful vacation or holiday in the homey atmosphere offered at the Triple S Ranch, located in the heart of the beautiful Sonoma mountains. Relax beside the pool, hike along scenic mountain trails, visit the petrified forest or old faithful geyser of California in Calistoga, or just sit and bask in the warm California sun.

There is a dining room serving breakfast, lunch, and dinner (during vacation season); and a cocktail lounge. Lunches and banquets by reservation.

The Triple S Ranch is convenient to find. From Calistoga, drive north on Highway 128 to Petrified Forest road, turn right on Mountain Home road and drive one mile to Triple S Ranch.

Lew Lehr, the Marina steak man, is sharpening his golf game in preparation for the July 9, 10, 11 "Nugget Classic" in Reno. Lew is also putting on weight. One of the prizes for a hole in one is a new '63 Thunderbird plus your weight in silver dollars. It's sponsored by the Nugget in Sparks, East Reno. Write to them or phone SU 1-3482 for entry details.

Nick Gust, Pacifica restaurant "baron," has a most unique horseshoe bar.

"You'll never see an overweight bartender here," said Nick. "They get plenty of exercise tending to both ends of the bar."

The San Francisco Chez Paree, home of the best in show values for many years, continues this reputation with "The untouchable" Ellion Ness and her twin 45's taking the spotlight.

The Smith's Andril Motel and Cottages in Pacific Grove, California, is an ideal vacation site.

AFTER DINNER SMILES—Buddy Greco visited his pal, Enrico Romano, who prepared a special Italian dinner for him at Romano's in Pacifica. Judging from the smiles on both faces, the dinner must have been a palate success. Buddy, who has been a big entertainment hit on the Peninsula and in San Francisco, is soon to open an engagement in Reno, Nevada.

Keith Williamson's Home Made Pastries

Besides preparing finger lickin' chicken and melt-in-your-mouth steaks, Keith Williamson, the Burlingame "chicken king," has an outstanding reputation for his pastries and buttermilk biscuits which are baked right on the premises. Also prepared to go right along with your other orders.

Luz Garcia's Sinaloa policy of "No cover charge for dinner patrons" is proving very successful. It's in effect from 6 p.m. through the 2 a.m. closing, Monday through Saturday. Not open Sundays.

Friar Room, located in Daly City, is one of the Bay Area's newest restaurants and offers such gourmet delights as beef Stroganoff, Australian lobster.

The Pappas Brothers invite you to visit their world famous Howard Hot Springs in Lake County and try the combination of mineral baths (radioactive and sulphur included. Howard Hot Springs also offers beauty baths, sun decks, 45 comfortably furnished cottages, and special prepared meals.
